This is the night the spooks and the goblins and the elfs and those mythical supernaturals will move from place to place to make life worse than a depression. What you haven't already imagined or experienced will in all probability be supplied this evening, when that age-old custom of All Saints Day is celebrated by introducing various forms of modern witchery and mischievousness, most of it harmless.

If you want to get the old time aspect of observance refer to Brand's Popular Antiquities, Chamber's Book of Days, or better still to the well-known poems of Burns. In those days the most essential part of Halloween ritual consisted in the lighting of bonfires at night-fall, maybe to keep the imaginary ghouls away. John Luxembourg would have to call in George Peters and other members of the old volunteers, if that custom prevailed today. The kids of our time are not so particular about illumination. They prefer darkness, not because their deeds are so evil; just want to avoid meeting the neighbor face to face.

You can't enjoy Halloween if you are caught pinning a tick-tack on the door, not if it's your own door, and the fellow you live with happens to be in a bad humor. It's better to try it on the neighbor. He may be more reasonable. Maybe he'll remember the time when he did the same thing. If he does and then can't take a joke, he's an old meanie. And don't you believe him if he tells you that the young people of today are going to the devil. The devil hasn't called for him yet, has he?

Guess these young folks do try adult patience nowadays, but there were adults when I was a kid, too, and if they got a laugh out of the things I did when I celebrated, they must have been chummy with a horse. Many a nice picket fence had its teeth knocked out, and it wasn't an easy task cleaning the front door after a bunch of de-cayed tomatoes trickled down to the porch. You had to use the classified columns to get back your gate, and then sometimes made the newspaper man out a liar but not getting it then.

So tonight when you hear the kiddies talking outside, and you get a mild shower of beans against the front door, don't get excited. Beans "ain't" worth much over four cents a pound, anyway, so it isn't an extravagance. Mighty cheap fun, if you are not a bean grower. Say, they could have thrown my entire orange crop against the front door and this year it would have been cheaper to wash it than ship the fruit.

And apples are not an extravagance. We used to purloin the fruit of the Garden of Eden, and it never did get us into the mischief old Adam got into. If it was a red apple, well, that was one time the teacher didn't get it. Fact is for a few days after Halloween there wasn't much said about apples.

And the kids were the dumbest set you ever saw. They didn't know anything and they didn't do anything, and they couldn't explain anything, at least nothing incriminating. Dad and mother had to just listen to their evasions, which is the milder word, and talk it over after the kids were in bed. If the suffering neighbor was as merciful the next morning as he was mad

Man Who Checked Bengal Terror Given Post

LONDON. (AP)—Sir John Anderson, broad-shouldered administrator who crushed terror in Bengal between 1932 and 1937, today was appointed Lord Privy Seal in a cabinet shake-up believed to be preparatory to a widespread organization of the nation for defense.

Viscount Runciman, who tried in vain to mediate the crisis which led to Germany's absorption of Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland, was named Lord President of the Council.

Malcolm MacDonald, already ready secretary for colonies, was given the additional post of Dominions secretary.

The post of Lord Privy Seal became vacant last week when Earl De La Warr was shifted to the ministry of education. Runciman succeeds Viscount Hailsham, who resigned. The dominions post has been vacant since the death of Lord Stanley Oct. 18.

Sir John Anderson, who gained an empire-wide reputation by his vigorous measures to stamp out disorder during his five-year term as governor general of Bengal, is expected to take over reorganization of Britain for civilian defense, especially against air raids. It was also forecast that Lord Runciman would help strengthen the ministry for coordination of defense, headed by Sir Thomas Inskip.

Today's appointments followed two other cabinet changes last week, the naming of Earl Star-hope to be first lord of the admiralty, succeeding Alfred Duff Cooper, who resigned Oct. 1 because of his "distrust" of the peace of Munich, and the shifting of Earl De La Warr to the education ministry.

The shirts came on the eve of tomorrow's assembling of parliament for a brief session, which is expected to produce attacks from all sides on the government of Prime Minister Chamberlain for the defense weaknesses disclosed by the Czechoslovak crisis.

The reconstruction of his cabinet with a view to mending those defects gave Chamberlain a reply for his critics.

'LITTLE BEAR'
STILL IN AIR

LANCASTER. (AP)—The sturdy endurance plane "Little Bear" drifted over a desert dry lake today, routinely nearing the end of the eighth day of a projected 30-day nonstop flight.

The tireless craft bettered the light-plane endurance record of 136 hours, 10 minutes last Saturday morning and stayed aloft in pursuit of the world endurance mark of 653 hours, 10 minutes held by the Keys brothers of New Orleans.

It was a return trip aloft for Smith. Last Wednesday he had been replaced by Harley Long of Long Beach.

The plane refuels by picking up cans of gasoline with a line from a car on the ground. Its 50 horsepower, 4 cylinder engine uses about 4.2 gallons an hour.

TWO DIE ON CROSSING Six-Month-Old Baby Survives Tragedy

A tiny six-month-old baby faced life alone today after death claimed its youthful parents at a Santa Ana railroad crossing.

Instantly killed when their automobile was struck by a north-bound Southern Pacific freight train late Saturday at North Flower street and Santa Ana boulevard was a young Anaheim couple—Barney Aryel Cravens, 23, and his young wife, Salie Cravens, 19.

Their infant son, George, suffered a broken right leg, but a miracle saved the baby from death as the car was carried along the tracks for more than 200 feet before the heavy train ground to a halt.

Cravens, a packing house workman, had moved to Anaheim from Brownfield, Texas, only two months ago.

Authorities were puzzled for several hours today as to who would claim the infant baby. It was reported shortly before noon that Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cravens of Brownfield, Texas, parents of the young father, had received word of the tragedy and were on their way to Santa Ana.

Only other relative here is Howard Cornelius Gilmore of Anaheim, a cousin of Cravens.

The accident occurred at 6:39 p. m. Saturday. Police said Cravens was driving south on Flower street, crossed Santa Ana boulevard, and drove in front of the freight train, which was said to be traveling at about 20 miles per hour.

The car was carried over the rails for about 212 feet before the train could come to a halt, police said. The automobile was virtually ground to pieces.

'LUCKY,' HE GETS 5 YEARS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Glen Elmore, 32, garage mechanic, today was sentenced to serve five years to life in San Quentin prison for slaying his attractive wife, Irene, last July 27 at La Crescenta.

"You're a very lucky man," commented Judge A. A. Scott in passing sentence. "You should have been obliged to pay the extreme penalty. The shooting was obviously premeditated murder."

Chief of Legion Warns 'Inciters' About Nov. 11

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—National Commander Stephen F. Chadwick of the American Legion in an interview today called on "malcontents, dissenters, inciters and destructionists" to keep their "soap boxes" off the streets.

"Unfortunately," Chadwick commented, "there are a number of groups, political and social, which seize this day as a ripe occasion for spreading propaganda. They howl when they should be praying."

"Armistice day is particularly a day for veterans of the World war. It is their national holiday. . . . As for those of us who came through with our lives, our limbs, and all or most of our health, we regard Armistice day as our time giving thanks for it. It is our day for celebrating the victory and thanksgiving as well as our memorial day . . ."

COL. GIMP SUED FOR $230,000

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Myrl Alderman today sued "Col." Martin Snyder for $230,000 as a result of the sensational shooting in Ruth Etting's home two weeks ago.

Snyder now is in jail, charged with attempted murder. Alderman, whom Miss Etting declared under oath she had never married, charged in his complaint that he was shot by Snyder, Miss Etting's former husband, "maliciously and without cause."

Alderman, wounded two weeks ago in a shooting for which Martin Snyder (Col. Gimp) Snyder, Miss Etting's divorced husband, was charged with attempted murder, left a hospital last week for a secret destination.

Thousands Terrorized By Radio Broadcast Of Martians' Attack

NEW YORK. (AP)—Thousands of terror-stricken radio listeners throughout the country fled from their homes last night when they tuned in on a series of synthetic news broadcasts which depicted the beginning of an interplanetary war.

The simulated news bulletins, which accompanied a CBS dramatization of H. G. Wells' fantasy, "The War of the Worlds," became so realistic that they sent a wave of mass hysteria across the continent. The broadcast was intended only as fiction.

Some apartment houses in New York were emptied hurriedly by frantic listeners to the program—and by second and third hand accounts that multiplied the impending peril.

A woman in Pittsburgh tried suicide, saying, "I'd rather die this way than like that." At a high point in the program the electric power failed at Connetquot, Wash., a town of 1,000, and the lights went out in most of the homes. Many thought the invasion had reached the West Coast. Women fainted, and men prepared to take their families to the mountains.

Some reported they could smell the gas and see the flames started by the attackers.

People gathered in groups to pray for salvation. All over the metropolitan area, panicky persons jumped into their automobiles and headed for the open spaces to escape the hypothetical bombing of New York.

Church services here and elsewhere were broken up by intruders who screamed the world was coming to an end. . . . "Is it true? Were 40 killed in New Jersey? Or 7000 in New York? Are men from Mars attacking New York with deadly other-worldly weapons and gas? Was the world coming to an end? There wasn't a Martian in sight, and the hysteria subsided almost as quickly as it started.

Typewriter Clue In Pamphlet Case

Chief of German Army Out

BERLIN. (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler tonight accepted the resignation of General Ludwig Beck as chief of the army general staff and named General of Artillery Franz Halder to replace him.

An official announcement said General Beck's application to be relieved was granted by the Fuehrer, who promoted him to the rank of colonel-general with permission to wear the uniform of the fifth artillery regiment. The change was effective today.

Colonel General Gerd Von Rundstedt, who commanded one of the armies which marched in to occupy the Sudetenland, also was relieved of his command of any group number one, effective today.

According to the announcement, he also asked to be relieved and the Fuehrer granted his application.

Colonel General Fedor Von Bock was appointed Von Rundstedt's successor as army group commander. General Bock was commander of army group number three in addition to being chief of staff.

On Sept. 15 Berlin dispatches reported the status of General Beck had become doubtful, and the explanation was offered that he had disagreed with the Fuehrer and other army chiefs on the question of Czechoslovakia.

It was reported then that he had accepted appointment to "a special mission in the west"—away from the seat of the Czechoslovak crisis—in order to avoid a public break.

Beck's replacement was the first major change in the German high command since Hitler's army "purge" of Feb. 4, when the Fuehrer deposed Colonel General Werner Von Fritsch as chief of staff and Field Marshal Werner Von Blomberg as war minister.

That crisis grew out of Von Blomberg's marriage to Erika Gruhn, a carpenter's daughter, a match considered too humble for an army officer.

The February changes, concentrating military power in Hitler's hands, were followed shortly by the annexation of Austria.

Julie Jane Cruze Wins Court Fight

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A superior court today gave judgment in favor of Julie Jane Cruze in an action brought against her by her father, James Cruze, film director, over title to property valued at $150,000.

Miss Cruze contended her father deeded her the property in order to avoid its possible seizure for debts.

Cruze testified he conveyed it to her only so that she would have it at his death.

Husband Slayer Sent to Prison

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Convicted second degree murderer, Mrs. Dorothy Donegan, 44-year-old seamstress, was sentenced today to serve five years to life in Tehachapi prison for slaying her former husband, William, in his San Gabriel home last June 30.

In her sanity hearing after her conviction, two alienists testified she was sane at the time of the shooting, but the third alienist held she was insane.

Gen. Franco's Brother Dies In Air Crash

BURGOS, Spain. (AP)—Insurgent Spain paid tribute today to Lieut. Col. Ramon Franco, brother of Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco and his country's best known aviator, who was killed in a seaplane crash Friday.

Funeral services with military honors will be held at Palma, Mallorca, at the insurgent air base he organized and commanded, it was announced. His body lay in state at the Palma town hall.

Col. Franco and his crew of four perished when the craft the noted flier was piloting in a service flight was forced down in a storm nine miles northwest of Mallorca. Announcement of the tragedy was withheld until the bodies of Col. Franco and three of his aides were recovered off Cape Formentor.

The body of the radio operator was not found.

Col. Franco, 42, former aviation attaché to the Spanish embassy in Washington, left that post to join the insurgent movement in 1936. He frequently risked his life in service flights behind the government lines.

Guild Opposes Menuhin Permit

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—The western executive committee of the American Guild of Musical Artists steadfastly opposed today a proposal to permit Yehudi Menuhin, non-member, to fulfill two violin engagements this week with the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra.

Frank Chapman, husband of singer Gladys "Sister" Sayers, presided at a meeting of the committee when it dispatched a telegram to Lawrence Tibbett, guild president, urging "firm action to protect AGMA and its members against attacks of Menuhin and his representatives."

Chinese Evacuate Port of Wuchow

CANTON. (AP)—The inland port of Wuchow, gateway to Kwangsi province, was being evacuated today under pressure of Japanese aerial bombardments which were believed to be a prelude to a Japanese drive in that direction.

Wuchow, 90 miles west of Canton and terminus for ocean going vessels on the West river, is a large trading center and distributing point for northern Kwangsi, southern Hunan and Kweichow provinces.

With McKelvey and Ott acting as their own attorneys and Taylor's attorney failing to make an appearance, the counsel table was nevertheless crowded. Carl Kegley, Democratic candidate for attorney general engaged by Green, was not present today.

British Troops Inade Jaffa, Center Of Arab Insurgents

TWO MONTHS OF TURMOIL IS ENDED BY ARMY

JERUSALEM, (P)—A battalion of British troops today was sent into Jaffa, largest purely Arab town in Palestine, in Britain's continuing intensive drive to quell Arab insurrection against her rule in the Holy Land.

With the ancient port under a pall of smoke from a lumber yard blaze believed to have been caused by incendiaries, officials had imposed a 24-hour curfew before the troops' arrival.

Soldiers immediately cordoned off the city and began systematic searches as the curfew came into force and all traffic in and out of the riot-ridden city ceased.

Jaffa, with a population of about 50,000, has been in turmoil for more than two months and at least 500 Arab insurgents are believed to have made it their headquarters.

Banks, port officials, the railroad station and the freight depot have been robbed. Shops on the border between Jaffa and the Jewish city of Tel Aviv have been set afire.

British officials expected this drive would restore order as in the case of the old city of Jerusalem, Gaza, Bethlehem and other towns which have been occupied by troops.

Jewish national institutions called out all Jews on a solidarity strike to last until nightfall tonight when special canvassers will collect money for a "redemption fund," to be used to support Jewish defense of their claims in Palestine.

The "redemption fund" already has raised $250,000 from small, voluntary subscriptions. This, however, has been all spent for armored cars, barricades, searchlights, road building and other defensive measures in strategic areas.

Statistics compiled from authoritative but unofficial sources showed that the long strife over Arabs' and Jews' conflicting claims to Palestine as their homeland has been most acute within the past four months.

Casualties for that period, they showed, totaled 245, including 1317 dead. This exceeded the combined total for the two previous years in which, together, there were only 2047 casualties.

As in previous insurrections, the Arabs themselves have suffered most. Their toll from last July 1 to Oct. 25 was 1087 killed and 564 known wounded. Jews suffered 211 killed and 449 wounded. British forces, including police, lost 40 killed and 122 wounded in the same period.

Statistics gathered some years ago in New York state showed the death rate for single men to be markedly higher at all ages than that for married men.

Missouri Official Reports On Scrip Money Plan Used To Meet Depression in '70s

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (P)—From California, where voters will decide Nov. 8 on a $30 a week pension plan to be financed by state scrip, came an inquiry recently about the scrip with which St. Joseph met a depression of the 1870s.

T. J. Lysaght, deputy city clerk, who received the query from William Niemann of Sorrento, Calif., delved into a Buchanan county history and learned the city issued scrip in $1 and $2 denominations back in 1878 for circulation within the city. Some of it was used as far away as Atchison, Kas., and for several years it was accepted by virtually everyone in St. Joseph except the postoffice.

The city government pledged itself to redeem the $100,000 in non-interest bearing certificates and in 1885 it began a four year period of buying up the scrip bills which had circulated for nearly a decade. While there was no apparent threat of financial disaster from

TYPEWRITERS OFFER CLUE IN LEAFLET CASE

Burke of Santa Ana was appearing for Green.

Only two witnesses had been called by Asst. Dist. Atty. Preston Turner at noon recess. They were Mrs. Gertrude Simcoe, Los Angeles police department secretary, and Harris, the document expert.

Mrs. Simcoe testified that McKelvey left with her a copy of a Los Angeles county grand jury transcript of 1923, which had been copied and the copy used in preparation of the second pamphlet. (The second pamphlet attacked Edgar B. Harvey, San Diego attorney suing Sheriff Logan Jackson for fees.)

McKelvey, she said, left the transcript with her at about 5 p. m. on Aug. 9, asking her to return it to the police department secretary's office, from which he had borrowed it. This she did, according to her testimony today. She said the transcript was in her desk drawer overnight, under several papers, which apparently were not disturbed during the night.

EXPERT ON STAND
Harris, an examiner of questioned documents for the past 20 years who has figured in many notable trials as a handwriting and documentary expert, told the court that the photostatic copy used in preparation of the second pamphlet had been taken from the transcript McKelvey borrowed.

He exhibited pencil markings on the transcript which showed in the photostat to illustrate his conclusion.

McKelvey objected frequently to parts of Harris' testimony and was overruled on most points.

TWO TYPEWRITERS
Harris said it would take "not over an hour or two" to photograph the 64 pages of the transcript used for the second pamphlet. McKelvey, according to testimony, borrowed the transcript about lunch time on Aug. 9 and left it with Mrs. Simcoe at 5 p. m.

Marked for identification were documents including the transcript, the photostatic copy of its pages used in setting type for the pamphlet, copy for the introduction and copy for "Fools Rush In."

Harris testified that two typewriters—one using L. C. Smith type and the other "noiseless" type—were used on the manuscript.

The typewriter used on "Fools Rush In" from the bottom of page two of the manuscript up to and including page 14, Harris said, was the same as was used for preparation of the entire introduction of the second pamphlet.

COURT CROWDED
The courtroom again was crowded with spectators while witnesses were barred on demand of McKelvey. Most witnesses were excused temporarily and will be called when they are needed, to save days of sitting in the jury room.

"I want it understood for the benefit of the newspapers," said O. A. Jacobs, Santa Ana attorney called as a witness, "that the witnesses will be called at the time that they are wanted." (News-papers Saturday had reported McKelvey's remarks suggesting contempt proceedings because several witnesses did not answer to their names when called. Jacobs had been in the courtroom part of Saturday morning, but had left before court adjourned.)

OTT ADDRESSES COURT
Ott addressed himself to the court to emphasize that he was appearing on his own behalf—another newspaper said Kegel was Ott's attorney—and that "there is no such situation here as a 'joint defense' insofar as I am concerned."

"If and when there is any reason for resisting any apparent invasion of my rights . . . this will be done by me personally and not by proxy."

Opening testimony by Mrs. Simcoe today was preceded by legal duelling as to whether or not the hearing might not be a trial of two misdemeanor counts.

RULING MADE
Finally, after argument on both sides, Judge Pann ruled that although two of the five counts in the complaint charge criminal libel, a misdemeanor, the libel did not occur in Santa Ana township and hence could not be tried here.

Because Fullerton, where the pamphlets were distributed, has no justice court able to hold preliminary examination for "high

Fast Thinking Cameraman Saves His Skin and Pictures From Mob ofirate Arabs

JERUSALEM, (P)—Fast thinking by Maurice Ford, British cameraman for British Paramount News, saved his skin and his newsreels today.

Arab insurgents, holding him prisoner and pressing revolvers into his ribs on both sides, told him they considered the British as much their enemies as the Jews.

Ford pointed to the American nameplate on the camera with which he had been filming scenes near Jericho and assured the Arabs it proved he was American.

Some leaders demanded that he be shot anyway but after a whispered council they decided to let him go.

As the cameraman drove through the gate of the insurgent headquarters an armed guard attempted to stop him again. He stepped on the gas and crushed through the barred wire fence.

The Arabs sent another patrol after him but he beat them to the border of the British police-patrolled territory.

He had h' films with him. All he lost was two hours while he was a prisoner answering the Arabs' questions, some of his equipment, his watch and $25.

LOS ANGELES, (P)—Suzanne Wilkins, pretty blonde wife of the explorer, Sir Hubert Wilkins, will accompany him on his attempt to reach the North Pole by submarine, she said today as she arrived on the liner Mariposa from Australia.

"I'm just here to fatten up for the trip," she said. "We are to leave from New York next March. Sir Hubert is directing the installation of equipment on a submarine designed especially to navigate under the Arctic ice floes."

During her stay here Lady Wilkins will be the house guest of Basil Rathbone, screen actor, and citizen, she entered the United States under quota restrictions, but said she would establish residence in New York and apply for American citizenship.

DIES LOSES PWA PROJECTS
WASHINGTON, (P)—Chairman Dies (D., Tex.) of a house committee investigating un-American activities said today two public works projects in his district had been cancelled since the committee inquiry began.

He added, however, that he was not prepared to charge that the cancellations were due to the administration's disapproval of the methods of the committee.

President Roosevelt said recently the committee had permitted itself to be used for political purposes that were unfair and un-American. The committee also has been criticized by Secretary of Interior Ickes, the PWA administrator, and by Secretary of Labor Perkins.

Dies said one of the projects for a $12,000,000 dam at Rockland, Tex., was cancelled soon after the investigation began.

Sally Rand May Dance for Court
LOS ANGELES, (P)—Sally Rand, perhaps with her fans, was ready to tell municipal court today how she came to be charged with battery against two candid camera enthusiasts.

Fair Sally's attorney, Milton Golden, said he would ask permission for her to dance in front of the jury so that she could visibly demonstrate her objections to having photographs taken while she waved her ostrich plumes.

C. R. Stanford, who snapped pictures of Miss Rand from the front row of a downtown theater July 12, insists, with his companion, Hazel Drain, that the dancer scratched and bit them.

"misdeemeanors," Judge Pann ruled that he would hold a preliminary hearing on those counts the same as for the three felony charges, and that all five alleged offenses would be triable only in superior court, if the defendants are held to answer to the higher court.

COMMITTEE TO SEEK SOLUTION RAIL PROBLEM

WASHINGTON, (P)—John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, said President Roosevelt expressed the hope today that an informal committee representing railroad management and labor would draft a constructive program for rehabilitation of the carriers.

Pelley said the President had asked him to ascertain the attitude of the railroads toward the fact-finding board's report recommending cancellation of the proposed 15 per cent wage cut.

Pelley said he agreed to do so, adding his "best guess" was the managements would hold a meeting in Chicago next week to outline their stand on the report.

The informal committee referred to, now in Washington considering the entire rail problem, was named by the President several months ago.

Pelley said the President "feels quite hopeful that through this committee he will get recommendations that will result in a constructive program for the railroads."

"He promised to do everything possible to get such a program enacted into law," Pelley added.

The President's emergency railroad investigating board recommended Saturday that the railroads withdraw their notices of the reduction, which would clip $250,000,000 annually from their payrolls.

Before the White House conference there was no indication whether the roads would accept the recommendation. A committee of the carriers' executives was asked to meet during the day. Its chairman, H. A. Enochs, said the wage question probably would be turned back to the individual roads.

In New York, some executives said the administration might grant the carriers $1,000,000,000 of rehabilitation loans, which could be repaid on easy terms. Authorities here said, however, the railroads most in need of such loans might have considerable difficulty obtaining the interstate commerce commission approval required by existing law.

Woman Aids in Robbery of Bank
BROOKINGS, S. D. (P)—A man and woman held up the Northwest Security National bank here today and escaped with between $10,000 and $15,000 after waiting two hours in the bank for the time vault to open while scores of customers passed in and out, unaware that a hold-up was in progress.

I Just Found Out About Orange County

By BOB SWANSON

Jubilee

The Santa Ana chamber of commerce will celebrate its golden jubilee Nov. 17, completing 50 years of continuous service.

Memories of the old days in Santa Ana will be recalled when the chamber stages a dinner and program at the American Legion hall, as a number of old-timers are scheduled to be present to reminisce on days gone by.

And if the dinner corresponds to one served at the first annual banquet of the chamber back in 1885, then it'll be a whopper. There must have been a superabundance of food in those days, because the menu—still on file—includes just about every kind of food known.

The chamber of commerce was first organized in 1888 as the Orange County Board of Trade, but was changed to the Orange county chamber of commerce. It later became the Santa Ana chamber of commerce.

The name was changed three times. Sec. Howard I. Wood says, but there was no interruption of service during the 50 years. As now, the chamber was desirous of advertising the "unquestioned advantages" of this county to people everywhere so they would come here to build homes and start businesses.

The scrawled handwriting in dusty old minute books on file at the chamber gives an insight into the Santa Ana of the old days as it looked to contemporaries.

On March 13, 1893, a meeting of county boosters was held at Mosbaugh's hall to start plans for the organizing of the Orange county chamber of commerce. A short while later another meeting was held, the chamber proposition approved, and officers elected.

These officers, who were trailblazers in business promotion in the county, included President John McFadden, Vice President J. W. Ballard, Secretary W. S. Taylor, Treasurer L. Bell, and Directors H. H. Roper, B. G. Balcom, W. H. Spurgeon, Frank E. G. J. Mosbaugh, H. A. Penabody, F. E. Nicky, and E. D. Buss—all prominent business men.

There were 123 names on the original membership list secured and presented at the first meeting.

These business men, as the old records indicate, banded themselves together for some pretty definite reasons: it was organized because of "the need of thorough organization and unity of action in our efforts to place Orange county among the most attractive and prosperous counties in California."

Purpose was to foster and encourage commerce, stimulate home trade and manufacturing, to assist in securing a market for products, to induce immigration, to assist in the development of natural resources of the county.

One of the first problems was that of advertising. A representative of the California Illustrated Magazine appeared before the directors March 27, 1893, to discuss a "write-up"—10 pages at $50 a page. The chamber voted to supply $50, if other groups would raise the rest.

At that same meeting, it was voted to advertise Orange county in two prominent eastern publications.

Evidences of some consternation can be found in the minutes of the April 3, 1893, meeting. The directors were worried about reported discrimination against Santa Ana and Orange county in folders issued by the Santa Fe railroad at Riverside—it seems that the folder omitted the name of Santa Ana from the time-table.

Wrath of the directors was also apparently representing the Santa Fe railway displayed pictures of Southern California at Colton, but did not display any views of Orange county.

Next important piece of business handled by the chamber came up at the April 12, 1893, meeting when an investigation was launched into the reported existence of phylloxera in the vineyard belonging to Fred Rohrs. It was decided the horticultural commissioner should see that the vines were removed and destroyed.

On April 17, that year, the directors got their first invitation to do what every chamber of commerce does plenty of—extended an official invitation for a factory to come to Santa Ana. This was a tickle factory.

On August 8, 1893, it was agreed that "sewage of this city be removed during the night exclusively."

Question of a beet sugar factory being established in or near Santa Ana came before the chamber soon after. They decided to write "ast for terms."

On September 5 that year, the advertising problem came up again—this time the directors decided it would cost too much to advertise in the Chicago Graphic.

From 1895 to 1896, the chamber kept busy on a variety of

Program Completed For Armistice Day Celebration In Orange

CAPT. BAYLIS OF MARINES TO SPEAK NOV. 10

ORANGE.—Principal address at the special memorial services in the Orange high school stadium Thursday night, Nov. 11, will be delivered by Capt. Charles D. Baylis of Los Angeles, retired officer of the United States marines, it was announced today.

The services will be the first part of the county-wide Armistice day celebration, which will be climaxed the following day with a mile-long parade, according to George Bickford, general chairman of the Armistice day committee.

The address by Captain Baylis will honor the living and the dead who gave their strength and their lives in service to their country. The services will pay tribute to all veterans, and all veteran organizations of the county will be represented at the program, beginning at 8 p. m. Charles Triplet has arranged program details.

Entries continue to pour in for the Armistice parade, which will begin at 11 a. m. on Friday, Nov. 11. Approximately $180 worth of trophies, prizes and ribbons will be awarded in the parade.

Following the parade, the celebration will move to the Orange city park, where a barbecue is scheduled. A free vaudeville program and band concert will be presented in the band shell, and a football game between Orange and Huntington Beach High schools has been scheduled for the Orange stadium in the afternoon.

Another feature of the celebration will be a carnival staged at the city park by 25 organizations of the city. The program will be concluded with a vaudeville program and band concert in the park in the evening, and a dance at the American Legion hall.

Boy Is Host to Classmates at Picnic Supper

GARDEN GROVE.—Billy Cheney played host to a group of his seventh grade classmates for a winner take picnic supper and skating party, Friday evening.

The supper was served at the S. W. Holt home with Mrs. Holt as the young host's mother. Mrs. Cheney of Norwalk assisting in serving. The young people were later taken to the skating rink on 101 Highway by Mrs. Holt, Mrs. Cheney, Mrs. Al Bradley and Mrs. Wm. Noble.

Billy's guests were Betty Lou Noble, Lois Bradley, Frankie Payne, Dorothy Schneider, Carol German, Ada Bower, Winifred Chaffee, Jackie Lois Scott, Stanley Barras, Norman Ross, Robert Pellett, Joseph Rojas, Donald Olsen, Kenneth Holt, Glenn Myracle, Elmer Humphrey, Bobbie Cozar, and Ernest Marr.

O. E. S. Chapter Holds Initiation

GARDEN GROVE.—With Worthy Matron and Patron, Mrs. Clara and Norman E. Bryan presiding at the meeting of Garden Grove chapter of the Eastern Star, Thursday evening the order's initiatory degrees were conferred on Mrs. J. E. Truitt.

Reports of the recent grand convention at Oakland were given the official delegates Mrs. Bryan and her associate matron, Mrs. Emma Henry. Announcement was made of the election of new officers at the next meeting. November 10. Seasonal refreshments were served at the meeting adjourned by the Misses Margaret Hill, Matilda Hill and Eva Lake.

community problems. Here's some of the work done: Lights put in the lobby of the postoffice; new sign painted and placed at the Santa Fe depot; petition circulated for calling an election for municipal ownership of electric lights; invited Southern Pacific to extend its road and place its depot on Fourth street; voted to guarantee $500 to motor road company to operate between Orange and Santa Ana.

The first annual banquet was held at the Brunswick hotel, 1895. Here's the menu, which ought to prove that people in those days were heavy eaters: cold roast beef, soup de bouillon, cold boiled ham, cold boiled tongue, cold corn beef, potatoes, Saratoga chips, potato salad, lobster salad, radishes, scallions, cabbage slaw, lettuce, beets, pickles, olives, lemonade, tea, coffee, ice cream and assorted cake, oranges, raisins, nuts, cheese, and fruits of the season.

They'll have to go some to beat that at the Golden Jubilee.

EX-MAYOR OF NEWPORT DIES IN BALBOA

Herman Hilmer, 63, retired college professor and former mayor of Newport Beach, died at his home at 123 East Bay Front, Balboa Island, early today after a lengthy illness.

Hilmer was formerly a professor of German at Stanford university, and he also once served as professor of economics at the University of California at Los Angeles. He served a number of years as mayor and councilman at Newport and was well known throughout the county.

Born in Germany, he spent the past 15 years of his life at Newport. He is survived by his wife, Ethel G. Hilmer, and a brother, George Hilmer, of New York.

Private funeral services were to be conducted from the Dixon-Grauel funeral chapel in Costa Mesa today. Interment was also to be private.

Hilmer not long ago returned from an European trip. Friends said he had been in poor health since his return.

Sea Scout Leader To Attend Session

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Thomas J. Keans of New York, national Sea Scout director, will be honored at a meeting of the Newport Harbor Sea Scout committee next Monday, Dr. G. M. Grundy, chairman, announced today.

Keans will discuss Sea Scouting on a national basis, as well as plans for the annual Rendezvous at Newport Harbor during the Thanksgiving vacation. An informal luncheon will precede the meeting.

Hallowe'en Party

GARDEN GROVE.—The A. D. Smiley home on North Euclid avenue was the scene of a gay little Hallowe'en party Friday evening when Miss Janet Smiley was joined by five of her classmates, the Misses Lullie Henderson, Della Hamilton, Grace Olson, Florence Monell and Barbara Reynolds in entertaining their best "boy friends." The guests were Led Sullivan, Bob Este, Jim Oughton, John Elchandy, George Donahue, and Don McConnell. A buffet style supper was served at the close of an enjoyable evening of games.

David Livingstone, the famous African missionary and explorer, had wanted to go to China and was greatly disappointed when assigned to Africa.

Sontag Stores Will Offer Miss Bennett's Preparations

Starting today the Sontag Drug stores, in collaboration with Constance Bennett, motion picture star, offer a half-price sale of Miss Bennett's own personal line of Matched Cosmetics.

Heretofore, Constance Bennett's Matched Cosmetics have been available only at leading department stores throughout the country, and at prices often more than double those at which they will be offered during this gigantic sales event. Miss Bennett has decided to take advantage of Sontag's immense power of customer distribution as the best means of bringing her beauty preparations to the women of Southern California for the first time at popular prices.

Constance Bennett's entrance into the national cosmetics field was brought about principally because of her own personal makeup. Fans and friends alike besieged her with inquiries as to what she used and where it could be bought. Since Miss Bennett had spent some years in research and BARN SCENE OF HALLOWE'EN PARTY IN G. G.

GARDEN GROVE.—The high school department of the First Methodist church Sunday school joined with the Epworth League for a hayride and Hallowe'en party, Friday evening, with overalls and slacks the favored garb. The hayride starting at the church ended at the George Bell home on West Stanford where a large barn with decorations of witches, owls, cats and jack-o'-lanterns, proved an exciting place for games.

The game prizes were taken by Betty Smith, Edna Hebestreit, Bob Shreeves, and Walter Walker. Sadie Camp, Raymond Holt and Rodney Arkley who were in charge of arrangements for the party, directed the games. Doughnuts with cider and peanuts were served before the group boarded the hay wagon for the return to the church.

CHURCH GROUP LEADERS MEET

GARDEN GROVE.—Leaders of the Methodist Episcopal Queen Esther circles of the county were guests of Miss Velda Barnes of this city Friday evening for a discussion of county-wide as well as individual unit plans.

The conference secretary, Mrs. Betty Crowell of Van Nuys, led the discussion after reporting on the recent national convention of the Woman's Home Missionary society at Minneapolis. Miss Marjorie Riddle of Orange, the San Diego district secretary of Queen Esther work, spoke on district and county plans.

As the discussion ended, Miss Barnes served refreshments appropriate to the Hallowe'en season. Also present were Mrs. Gertrude Robinson of Orange, Mrs. C. R. Montague and Mrs. Walter Neal of Fullerton, Mrs. W. F. Slater and Mrs. W. Tucker of Wintersburg and Miss Ferne Schnitzer of Garden Grove.

POULTRYMEN MEET IN G. G.

GARDEN GROVE.—The annual dinner meeting of Orange county poultrymen and employees of the Poultrymen's Cooperative association of southern California was held Thursday evening at the Garden Grove Women's clubhouse with more than 200 persons attending. Members of the Women's Civic club served the dinner.

After dinner program was G. F. Schroeder of Orange, the director from this county. The association general manager H. W. Amelung spoke on the progress made by the organization in the 25 years it has existed.

L. J. Scofield who heads the department of feed formulas in the Escondido district discussed recent changes in feed formulas and E. Spencer of Atascadero told of poultry conditions there. The program was concluded with the showing of a sound motion picture concerning raising in the state of Washington.

'Y' Sponsors Two Hallowe'en Parties

ORANGE.—Two parties will be sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. here tonight as a Hallowe'en celebration for boys of the community.

A costume party will get under way at 6:30 in the Y. M. C. A. Henry Meier will show motion pictures of trips to various parts of the world. There will be a grand costume march, with prizes awarded for the best costumes.

At 9:15 a theater party will be held for boys of high school age.

His Hens Can Lay Green-Yolked Eggs

TOPEKA, Kans. (P)—Walter Laundon can make his hens lay yellow, red or green yolks in their eggs.

Shorting a hen on her grain ration and feeding her green vegetables makes the yolks green. An abundance of carrots in the diet makes yolks more yellow than they should be. Red yolks come from diets of chemically treated grains.

All the yolks taste about the same, said Laundon.

Late October and early November is the best time to fight against rats. During late fall they move from fields and ditches to barnyards and village residences.

Deserted House, Supposedly Haunted, Visited By Party

ALAMITOS.—An old, deserted house, supposedly haunted, which has proved popular for Hallowe'en parties for groups from this community, this year was again visited Friday evening when the Junior choir of the Friends church arrived there after a hay ride trip from the church. The games played, as well as a treasure hunt, called for visits to the darkest and spookiest parts of the house, and with the group gathered in one very dark room, Miss Ethelyn Stuart, the choir organist, told a decidedly weird story.

Leaving the house and going to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Rez, the group enjoyed more games and refreshments, which some of the choir members and the choir director, Mrs. Frank Everett, assisted Mrs. Rez in serving. A hay ride trip back to the church concluded the affair.

In the party were Mrs. Everett, Miss Stuart, Mr. Rez, Barbara Jones, Carolyn Broadly, Ruth Rez, Marilyn Kellogg, Connie Everett, Betty Cocheran, Elsie and Verna Rice, Kiniko Takinashi, Betty Mitchell, Clay Kellogg, Jim Gupill, Vernon, Orville and Donald Rez, Warren, Billy and Jimmy Stimpson, Walter Leachman, Sterling Columbia, Junior and Max Cocheran, Edwin McDonald, Roger Mitchell, Robert Broadly and Charles Everett.

The Core...No More

SEAL BEACH.—Hallowe'en parties are planned at 7:30 o'clock tonight by the American Legion auxiliary, with students in the fourth to seventh grades invited to attend a program in the Community church auditorium, and students in the eighth grade through junior college age invited to a party in the Civic auditorium.

FULLERTON.—Junior college drama society presents "Bury the Dead," bitter satire on war, in the high school auditorium at 8 p. m. today.

ORANGE.—Six leadership training classes sponsored by the Orange Ministerial union are planned for the First Christian church beginning Monday night, Nov. 7, it is announced by the Rev. Myron C. Cole, dean of the school.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—C. M. Hood, well-known Huntington Beach oil operator and civic leader; Mrs. Hood and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Kelly, sail for month's vacation in Hawaii.

FULLERTON.—Police investigate theft of wrist watch, three rings and other valuables from home of H. M. Smith, 310 West Chapman avenue.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Preliminary steps are taken to set up a recreation commission and coordinating council for Huntington Beach.

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Arrangements near completion for Sixth Annual Speedboat championships to be held Sunday in the county channel here under the auspices of the California Yacht club.

ORANGE.—Arthur T. Hobson, Jr., has leading role in "The Youngest," to be presented by the drama department in the Orange High school auditorium at 8 p. m. Friday.

SAN CLEMENTE.—The Rev. Alfred Bussingham, formerly of North Dakota, is assigned vicar of St. Clement's Episcopal church here, with the Rev. Robert H. Garth, rector of the St. Mary's Episcopal church of Laguna Beach until a short time ago, conducting the services.

LAGUNA BEACH.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kight, 521 East Palmyra, Orange, celebrate 61 years of wedded life in family reunion at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George O. Rhorer, 490 Arroyo Chico.

SHOTGUN FIRED INTO WINDOW, OFFICERS SAY

FULLERTON.—Fullerton police said today charges of assault with a deadly weapon will be filed against Will Officer, 57-year-old Fullerton man, who allegedly fired a shotgun blast at his son-in-law, Bert Norrin, 30.

Police reported Norrin suffered a flesh wound on the left side of his chest yesterday afternoon when Officer assertedly fired at him from the window of his home at 136 West Maple street.

Norrin, who lives at the same address, was on the outside of the house when the asserted shooting occurred.

Fullerton officers said Norrin was treated by a physician for a superficial wound.

Police said the asserted shooting was the result of a family quarrel.

$325,000 BOND ISSUE TODAY

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Voters today were casting their ballots in a $325,000 bond election which, if successful, will be used in carrying out a PWA improvement project estimated at $577,272 by R. L. Patterson, city engineer.

The proposed "master plan" calls for the construction of a new city hall, jail and police station at Newport; improvements to Newport pier; waterfront improvements, including a large oceanfront parking area at Balboa; improvements to water and sewer systems; and construction of a civic center at Corona Del Mar. The polls will close at 7 p. m.

WHITSELL TO VISIT LODGE TOMORROW

ORANGE.—Leon C. Whitsell, newly-elected grand master of California Masons, will pay his first official visit to the Orange Grove Masonic lodge here tomorrow night, when he will be honored at a 6:30 dinner in the Woman's clubhouse.

The regular stated meeting will follow in the Masonic temple, with Masons from the 100th and 101 districts invited to attend the session.

Among officials from neighboring lodges and districts who are expected to attend include A. H. Allen of Santa Ana, inspector of the 100th district; Henry McMassters of Anaheim, inspector of the 101st district, and Lynn Harvey of Santa Ana, grand senior steward and past master of Santa Ana Lodge No. 241.

17 Killed When Bomb Hits Train

BARCELONA. (AP)—A 250-mile stretch of government Spain's Mediterranean coast was bombed heavily today.

The raids ranged from Alicante north to Valencia. The worst damage resulted from bombing of a train near Algemesi station, about 20 miles south of Valencia. Seventy-two persons were killed outright and several more of 80 wounded died later in the Alcira hospital.

BLIND VOYAGE

Theodore (Teddy) Raynor and Hugo Albright, lured by letters from Dr. Smiling, travel-bureau operator, sail on a cruise on a motor yacht, the Golden Gull. They are warned by Denis Graham, another passenger, that there is danger, and learn that not only the captain knows where they are going, he receives sealed instructions each morning from Smiling, who claims he received them from the unknown sponsor.

Others aboard are the beautiful Charis Winslow; Cecil Stoddard, wealthy playboy; Mrs. Stoddard and her maid, Kelsey; Roy Farrin, ex-acrobat; Mrs. Farrin, author John Carper, millionaire; and Professor Turner. The stewardess, after trying to sell information to Teddy, is murdered. The engines are disabled and, the same night, Farrin is strangled. Kelsey says she saw Stoddard slug him. Then, Mrs. Marvis tells Teddy she saw some one, in a black cloak and hood, who had been with her. Teddy and Hugo are discussing this. Stoddard interrupts them.

CHAPTER XXVIII
"Listen, Stoddard!" Hugo said angrily. "First you have your man Hull snoot! Now you start snooping yourself! Lay off, will you?"

Cecil dropped his monocle from his eye. "Apparently, I'm persona non grata," he murmured. "Sorry, but I'm not a snooty fellow."

"Wait a minute!" said Hugo. "Never mind about now—but you carried your snooping a bit too far last night!"

Cecil's silly manner suddenly dropped from him, and he glanced around quickly.

"Shut up, Albright!" he muttered. "For heaven's sake, lower your voice!"

"So you admit you were snooping last night? Do you also admit that you knocked Farrin over the head?"

"Listen to me!" Cecil said rapidly. "I smelled a rat long before we sailed. Why, is my business. I instructed Hull to prow around, hoping he could pick up some useful bits of information. But after the murder was done, I decided I'd better do my own prowling! I did knock Farrin out—I don't deny it. I suppose you were prowling, too, and saw me. It doesn't matter."

"It matters very much!" You might kill the man!"

"But I didn't—I merely incapacitated him for a few hours. I was after bigger game, and I didn't want Farrin in my way, so I removed him."

"Were you, by any chance, wearing a long black cloak and a hood?" Hugo asked softly.

Cecil looked at him sharply. "No—that was who I was after. If I hadn't had to waste so much time on Farrin, I might have caught the other."

He screwed his monocle back into place, and suddenly resumed his habitual vacant expression.

"The jolly old phantom slipped out of my fingers. Well, cherio, Albright, I'd be low if I were you—or you might get hurt!"

He stroled away. Hugo stared after him. "That fellow could be a mighty dangerous enemy," he muttered.

"Do you think he was telling the truth?" Teddy asked.

"I feel a darn sight safer if I knew!"

AFTER lunch, they got hold of Denis and Charis, and all gathered in Denis' cabin. There, Teddy again related Mrs. Marvis story, and Hugo told of their encounter with Cecil Stoddard.

"Stoddard may have been telling the truth," Denis murmured, "but I still think he was very easily misled by the man behind this cruise. On the other hand, I believe this hooded figure is the person we want—and how could Kelsey have recognized Stoddard last night if he had been the masked phantom?"

"I might have discarded his hood. After all, it was a couple of hours earlier that Mrs. Marvis saw her prowler," Hugo pointed out.

Charis shivered a little. "I don't like the thought of this night skulker! Isn't there anything we can do about it?"

"Yes!" Hugo said suddenly, turning to Denis. "Look, Denis—what do you say to our patrolling the ship tonight to see if we can lay hands on this person? You could take one part of the yacht, and I'd take the other. Then we'd meet at stated intervals to check up and make sure the other was all right."

"Not a bad idea," Denis agreed slowly.

"It seems very dangerous to me," Teddy protested.

"I don't give a darn about the danger!" Hugo said impatiently. "We've got to find out who's threatening us before any more murders are committed. Now, look here, Denis—

The two men put their heads together, mapping out which sections of the boat each would patrol, and fixing a place where they would meet every half hour.

THEY had scarcely finished with their plans when a knock sounded on the door. When Denis answered it, they were all surprised to find the unknown man stepped into the cabin and looked at them nervously.

"I—er—hope I'm not intruding."

"Not at all," said Denis, motioning him into a chair.

"I've come to you because I'm afraid. And since you four seem to have joined forces against the unknown man, I want to tell you what I know."

"What is it?" said Denis, prompted, watching him closely.

"I don't know—your moral support, I suppose. I know you're all suspicious of me, and I want to try to convince you that I'm as much in the dark about everything as you are. I'm frightened—and would feel much safer if only you would let me rely on myself. He stepped into the cabin and looked at them nervously."

"You're a fine one to come to us for aid when you're the person who got us all into this!"

"I know—but I had no idea such awful things were going to happen!"

"You'd be a whole lot more apt to win our confidence," said Denis, "if you'd tell us the truth about your connection with this cruise."

"The doctor insisted. As I've explained, the sponsor first approached me through his bank. Then, after I'd agreed to organize the trip, I received some of my instructions in letters signed 'Richard Blank' which were sent to me by the bank, and some instructions over the phone. But I haven't the faintest idea who sent them."

"And though all this was most unusual, you made no attempt to discover this person's identity or motive?" Denis asked scathingly.

Smiling flushed. "I was very well paid not to be curious."

"I see. Not over scrupulous, are you?"

The doctor nervously mopped his forehead again. "How can I help now to get to the bottom of the mystery?"

"Well, for one thing, sup you give us the sealed envelope containing the orders for Cap Jorkes?"

Smiling hesitated. "What good would that do me? Since the captain turned back, New York westerners and the remaining orders are meaningless. And now, besides, the engines have stopped."

Gala Event
Given By Riding Club

Members of the Boot 'n Spur riding club and their guests assembled Saturday evening at the Santa Ana Country club for a gala Halloween party. Serpentine, horns and caps were distributed to the costumed guests to add to the evening's fun in the gayly decorated rooms.

Mrs. Chad Harwood, general chairman of the event, received in a clever Chinese costume, and was assisted in arrangements by other members of the club.

During a grand march conducted to determine the best costumes, Mrs. Alton Duckett, won the best women's costume, and Dr. Chad Harwood took the men's prize with his Al G. Barnes' clown suit. Mr. and Mrs. John Ortiz were striking in their Spanish costume, and Harold Matthews doubled well for Haile Selassie; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein of Palm Springs appeared as Weenies, Dr. Harold Weatherman wore an other clown suit, Miss Dewey Newmeyer wore carnival regalia, with Mr. and Mrs. William Kray recalling the gay '90's in their costumes. Best couple prize went to Alton Duckett and Chet Gross.

Preceding the successful affair were several small parties, with Dr. and Mrs. Chad Harwood receiving Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wallace, Miss Katie Buxton, Francis Selway, Mr. and Mrs. William Kray, Dr. Harold Weatherman and Miss McFarland in their charming home.

NOVEL
TREATMENT
AT PADUA

Blamed for everything that goes wrong back stage, the humble property man gets the spotlight for once and contributed greatly to the fun in "Tito, el Toreador," new production of the Mexican Players at the Padua Hills theater.

The rollicking story of the bull-fighter who resigned as a hero for a day is presented without a curtain, and the property man dresses the stage in full view of the audience.

He calls the members of the cast to open the play, comes in from the wings to turn the hands of a clock to note the passage of time, brings in properties, even to a vehicle, as they are needed, his droll mannerisms contributing to the merriment of the production.

Alfonso Gallardo, who plays the property man, confides to the audience that he should have been an actor, and proceeds to demonstrate his thespian prowess in a highly entertaining manner.

While the stage technique is novel, the comedy-drama presents clever characterizations of the residents of a Mexican village and unfolds an absorbing, romantic story of the tereadero whose sudden rise to fame nearly cost him his wife. Manuel Aguilar plays the title role, with Hilda Ramirez as his patient spouse.

GROUP ENJOYS
SCAVENGER HUNT

Hostess at a clever Halloween party Saturday evening was Miss Martha May Mills of 1026 West Sixth street, when she bade 11 costumed and masked guests to enjoy a scavenger hunt.

Assisted throughout the evening by her mother, Mrs. John J. Mills, Miss May Mills used the traditional black cats, pumpkins and witches, intermingled with chrysanthemums, in the rooms of the home. When the "hunters" returned with their spoils, and prizes awarded to Miss Mary Calhoun and Bill Lumley, the evening was served, ending the pleasant evening.

Invited were the Misses Loretta Payne, Adeline Salyer, Barbara Gillespie, Mary Calhoun, Icyole Siewski, and Richard Pierson, Jack Fountain, Joe Ryan, Bud Benson, Bill Lumley and Kenneth Goodman.

Two Parties
Reveal
Betrothal

The betrothal of Miss Adeline Loptien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Loptien, and Charles Reither, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Reither, was announced at a duet of affairs held over the week-end. The bride-elect invited a group of her sorority sisters in Delta Theta Chi to her home Friday evening in celebration of her 21st birthday anniversary, and also to participate in a Halloween costume party. For this Miss Alice Whitten won a prize for the most original, and Miss Bette Vorce won one for the funniest.

Arrival of a large package during the affair revealed the engagement, which will culminate in a wedding during the winter or early spring.

On Sunday, Mrs. Loptien invited a group of friends in, and they, too, were surprised with the interesting news when they opened the little tatty-placards at the table. They later played the game of fifty, with high score prize going to Miss Lenora McFarren, and low to Mrs. Carl Hostetter.

Unable to be present were Mrs. T. F. McLeod, Miss Marian Dickey, Mrs. Russell White, Mrs. Helen Sienhens, Miss Rosemary Flippin, Miss Blanche Siegel, and Miss Rael Jones.

Present at both affairs were Miss Alice Whitten, Miss Bette Vorce, Miss Irene Ross, Miss Norma Kenny, Mrs. Emmett Seacord, Mrs. Margaret Doeken, Mrs. Frances Reason, Mrs. Harold Robertson, Miss Margaret Nunneman, Miss Lenora McFarren, Miss Mildred Schmetgen, Miss Dorothy Wulfstreg, Miss Helen Wulfstreg, Miss Florence Riss, Miss Sirena Muffelman, Miss Gladys Bosch, Mrs. Margaret Goetz, Mrs. Thomas as Towns, Mrs. Robert Goetz, Miss Dorothy Sienhens, Miss Faye Nehrig, Mrs. Bud Jones, Mrs. Carla Hostetter, Mrs. Peter Di Fabio, Miss Esther Intag, Miss Honey Bergander of Escondido; Miss Marjorie Reiter and Miss Mildred Loptien, sister of the bride-elect.

Mr. and Mrs. Loptien received the parents of the groom-elect, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Reither, the betrothed couple, and several intimate friends later Sunday evening for a buffet supper.

BIRTHDAY CLUB HAS PLEASANT
SESSION

Mrs. F. W. Timms and W. H. Wyckoff were hosts to the Birthday club at its regular meeting Saturday evening in the Timms' home at 1318 Orange avenue, and they received many pretty anniversary gifts.

Chinese checkers and tripple were amusing diversions of the evening, with Mrs. Marie Fowler and Elmer Thompson the fortunate prize winners.

Enjoying Halloween refreshments were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Will Wyckoff, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Timms, Mrs. Marie Fowler, Miss Helen Gallagher, Miss Mable Cole, Miss Esther Coffman, Miss Ethel Coffman and Miss Evelyn Wyckoff.

COSTUMES ARE VARIED AT PARTY

With boys dressed as girls, girls as boys, and many clowns, tramps, ghosts and soldiers in the throng, Miss Betty Flaherty entertained at a costume Halloween party Saturday night.

A fun house was arranged in the loft, and a treasure hunt and many amusing games occupied the evening.

In the party were Marion Finkoski, Reina Steinberger, Marjorie Johnston, Helen Edwards, Shirley Arterburn, Betty Lou Borne, Marjorie Wahlberg, Kenny Alinsworth, Bill Lewis, Billy Patterson, Jack Stanley, Jack Osborn, Michael Maloney, Pat Maloney and Betty Flaherty.

Barn Dance
Given By Couple-Trio

Mr. and Mrs. Parke Atwood, Mr. and Mrs. Delos Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Harold English were hospitable hosts Saturday night at an Halloween party in the Thomas-Deardorff barn.

Its colorful harvest decorations made an enjoyable setting for the affair, with old-fashioned and modern dancing the principal diversion. A late supper course was served.

Guests of the three couples were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Copeland, Marjorie and Melvin Copeland, Mr. and Mrs. Clytie Wheaton, Helen Wheaton, A. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Young, Mrs. Mae Knight, A. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Deardorff, Glenna Jean Deardorff, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Croft, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Kilgus, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald English, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Reafsnider, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Thomas, Barbara and Shirley Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weare, Helen Weare, Max Moore, Mrs. Leila Ayer, Miss Virginia Coffman, Don Thrall, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. McClure, Ross Outland, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Patterson.

MOTHERS AID IN GIVING
HOLIDAY PARTY

When Miss Patty Hunter and Miss Donna Preble entertained together at an Halloween party Saturday night, they were assisted in every way by their mothers, Mrs. Orson Hunter and Mrs. Irene Preble.

Their guests gathered first at the Hunter home, 317 East Santa Clara street, where they "cut up the cat." After this they proceeded to the Preble home at 2429 Sprague street, ringing doorbells en route. Here apple bobbing and many other amusing games occupied them, after which a supper course, cider and pumpkin pie, was served out of doors.

The gaily costumed guests of Miss Patty and Miss Donna were the Misses Carol Morrison, Mary Chase Woodward, Mary Ball, Carla Jo Mock, Ruth Lambert, Betty Vernon, Betty Ann Hoffman, Frances Howard, Joan Albert, Joan Forgy and Marilyn Hilyard.

LITTLE DINNER PARTY IS ENJOYABLE

Mrs. Robert Northcross gave a pleasant little dinner party Saturday evening, with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Hammack of Los Angeles, among the guests.

Enjoying the charming affair were Mr. and Mrs. Terry Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Wellington, Dr. A. Lyon, Mary Summers Smith and Robert Northcross, Jr.

That problem of what to wear after school is settled here by a soft ribbed sweater of gray-blue wool worn with a skirt of darker blue novelty crinkled flannel. The sweater is fastened with white pearl buttons and the skirt designed with group pleats.

WEEKLY BOOK REVIEW

By MOLLY HARVEY

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of weekly book reviews of current publications which will appear each Monday in The Journal

Review of "The Mortal Storm," by Phyllis Broughton. Courtesy Santa Ana Book Store, 208 West Fourth street.

Sub-title for "The Mortal Storm," might well be "I'm glad I am an American," for in her turbulent new novel Miss Broughton pictures the effect of the Nazi regime on a peaceful German family whose replica can be found by the hundreds in our own country. Like many an American scientist, Professor Roth had little concern for politics except as it stimulated free thinking among his students. Frau Roth shared his liberal views. When her two sons by a former marriage, Olaf and Emil, became brown shirts she saw no reason why individual members might not be entitled to their own convictions as long as they did not attempt to force them on the rest of the family.

All went well until Freya, who heretofore had no interests outside her medical studies, fell in love with Hans a sturdy young peasant, active member of the Communist party. At about the same time the authorities discovered that Professor Roth had a Jewish grandmother, and so was not fit to teach Aryan students. Feeling that Freya's relationship with a known Communist would further jeopardize their stepfather's position, and that anyway it was an honorable act to kill an enemy of Hitler, Olaf and Emil shot Hans as he was escaping over the border during a general purge after the Reichstag fire.

In bare outline the story sounds over-dramatic, but by making her characters living people instead of types, Miss Broughton avoids sensationalism. The emotions of this average family, tossed about by elements over which they have no control, are genuine and deeply moving. While definitely a propaganda novel, her author treats with utmost sympathy those youthful partisans following demagogues so blindly that they have lost all desire or ability to reason for themselves.

A supper was served in the evening, each of the card tables being centered for the services with the "mums" in silver vases on a mirror base. Favors and place cards were suggestive of Halloween.

Guests were Miss Lake, Mr. Edson, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hemphill of Anaheim, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Terry, Wilmar, Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Coward, Norwalk; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Allen, Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Henry, Miramar; Miss Thelma Neff, Montebello; Ralph Cadwell and Harold Peterson, Whittier; the Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Keech, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hepp, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Van der Linde, Miss Frances Hammon, Miss Dorothy Knapp, Miss Betty Lehnardt, Miss Juanita Dungan, Miss Gladys Cockerham, Earl Henry and Ralph Michelson of Garden Grove.

On Wednesday of this week John C. Duvall opens a series of four discussions. For the first two weeks Mr. Duvall will devote his attention to the European situation. The subject for this week is "The Causes of European Unrest." More than 2000 people a week have been hearing Mr. Duvall's discussions in Ogden, Utah, on this most timely subject. Please pass the word among your friends.

Watch the news next week for details of the new trades classes to be opened during the week of Nov. 14 to 19. Among these classes will be painting, plan reading, plastering, salesmanship for retail clerks, salesmanship for butchers, tile setting, showcard writing, and a class for building foremen and superintendents. These classes will be open to tradesmen or others who need the particular training in their occupations.

The contemporary class got off to a flying start last Thursday evening, with all the machines in use.

Alleman
Are Hosts At Gay Party

Happy combination of a fifteenth wedding anniversary and a gay Halloween party resulted when Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Alleman entertained Saturday night.

To add to the festiveness of the occasion, which had for its honored guests Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Eckel, guests were formal evening attire. They were greeted at the door, disguised in corn shocks, by a ghostly figure which later was revealed to be Victor Alleman, son of the hosts.

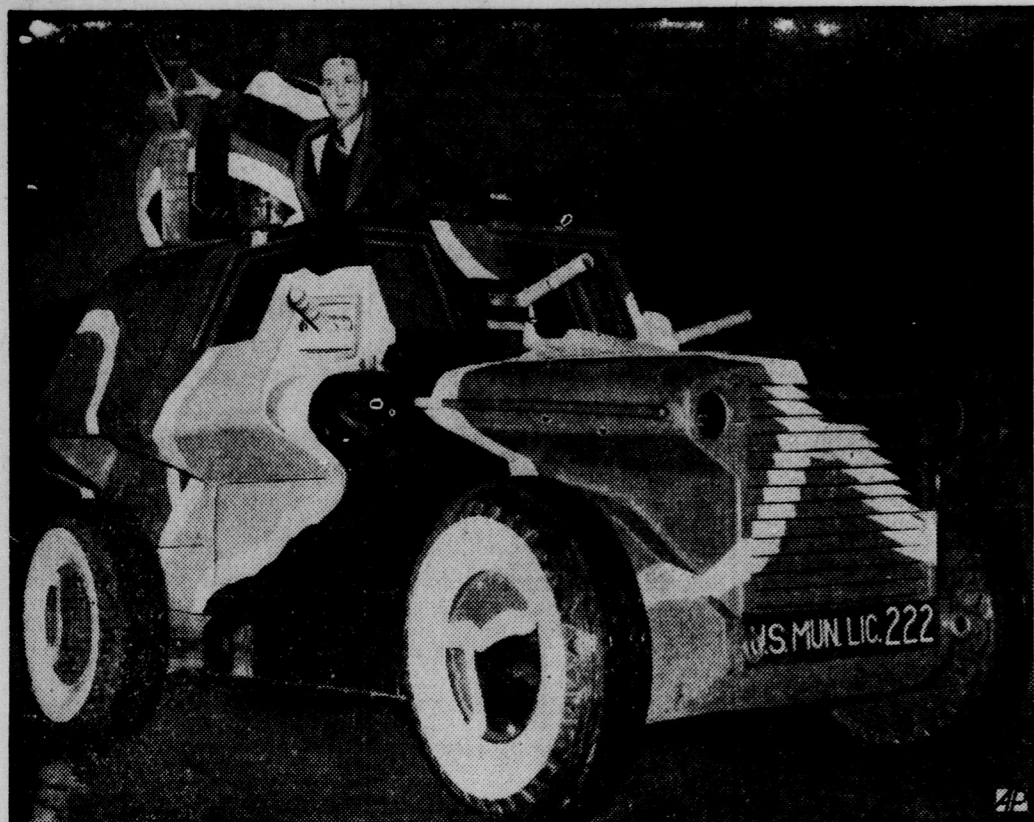

Contract was the first diversion of the evening, amid all sorts of colorful holiday decorations and lovely flowers, and at this Mrs. Walter Schmid and John Turton were high-score winners, while Ray Taylor was consoling.

At midnight, the entire group adjourned to the dining room where a large table had been set with orange and black cloth and appointments. Amusing little favors of miniature brides and grooms with pumpkin heads were at each place. The host proposed a toast to Mr. and Mrs. Eckel after which Ray Taylor acted as master of ceremonies in presenting the combined gift of lovely crystal goblets from all the guests, and in so doing, briefly sketched the events of each year in the Eckels' married life.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alleman at the delightful party were Mr. and Mrs. Eckel, Mr. and Mrs. John Turton, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. George Lippincott, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schmid, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Turner,

PORTERVILLE, REDLANDS GROWERS TO ATTEND ANAHEIM MEET

Expansion Of New Citrus League Is Likely To Result

Delegations from Porterville and Redlands will attend a public meeting of the California Citrus Growers League—newly incorporated fact-finding citrus organization—in the Anaheim Union High school Wednesday evening.

President Thomas L. McFadden of Anaheim announced the delegations will attend to study the plan and general purposes of the citrus league, which had created widespread interest throughout the state.

Members and interested persons were invited to attend and listen to the discussion. It was understood growers could also enroll as members in the citrus league at the meeting.

McFadden pointed out today that "there is still a scattered impression that the league plans to oppose the California Fruit Growers Exchange. The impression is entirely wrong.

"Our program is one of education," he asserted, "but before we can educate we must study. Many growers feel that marketing and organization conditions within the exchange can be corrected and improved. It is the purpose of the league to give these growers accurate and first-hand information upon which to base these beliefs. It is possible that we may find ways to better marketing and organization methods. If so, that will be one of the services of the league."

Tomorrow at 6:30 p. m., Dodley Page Harper will conduct the federal chorus of 20 mixed voices in another concert for the patients of the Orange county hospital. Three numbers will be sung, "Morning" by Oley Speaks; "Passing By" (Purcell), and the Russian folk song, "Nina," by Krone.

Mrs. Mae Renfer will be at the organ. Owing to a full calendar, the concerts are now given every month instead of semi-monthly.

This Thursday at 2:30 p. m., there will be a band concert in Birch park, weather permitting, discontinued the past two weeks because of the afternoon concerts presented in the various city schools.

The following program: March, "Golden Friendships" (Fillmore); overture, "Caliph of Bagdad"; "Perpetual Motion" (Strauss); selections from Friml's operetta, "The Firefly"; Suite, incidental music to "Henry VIII."

A feature of the park concert will be a trumpet solo, "The Charmer," by Otto Luttrell.

President Cuts

The driver was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition, while a passenger, Arthur Cordova, 18, of El Modena, suffered only a minor scratch on the head.

BANKERS' AID TO SEC URGED

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—With its new president pledging himself to work in cooperation with the SEC for reopening of the capital markets, and a prominent economist predicting an increasing demand for capital to finance higher standards of living, the Investment Bankers Association of America concluded its four-day annual convention Saturday.

Jean C. Witter, youthful appearing 46-year-old Californian, in an address prepared for his induction in to the association's presidency, said:

"Our number one job is to revive the investment banking business, not alone for the benefit of us in the business but for the benefit of everyone in the country—the working man, the farmer, the business man and the man on relief. New financing is the forerunner of new jobs and the cure of unemployment, which is certainly the number one national problem."

Rep. Sheppard, In
Talk Before 1000,
Assails J. H. Walsh

Pledging continued support to the General Welfare act and hurling verbal brickbats at Townsend Leader J. H. Walsh of Santa Ana, Congressman Harry Sheppard spoke to a crowd of more than 1000 persons in Birch park yesterday afternoon.

Walsh's local paper, the "Free Lance," was castigated by Sheppard and Harold Thoreson, the congressman's secretary and vice chairman of the state Democratic central committee.

Thoreson declared that the printing of the Free Lance abused the freedom of the press. "Any paper that prints such scurrilous matter as this violates every known ethic and principle of the newspaper profession," he declared. "It takes advantage of the freedom given the press under our constitution only to abuse it."

"It is a sad commentary on a political opponent when that opponent actually approves in writing the very paper spewing such vile slander, the type of reading matter that was printed."

Thoreson's reference was to a recent attack on Sheppard by Walsh's paper, and to Mayor C. T. Johnson of San Bernardino, Republican candidate for congress, who assertedly expressed his appreciation of the Free Lance in a letter to Walsh, the letter being printed on page one of the Free Lance.

Sheppard said "I am not going to bring my campaign down to the level of the gutter. I feel that a sound, constructive legislative program for the Nineteenth congressional district is of much more importance to the voters in this campaign than any mudslinging."

Sheppard and Walsh have been at political swords' points since Sheppard opposed Dr. Francis E. Townsend's attitude on governmental questions other than pensions.

The congressman stressed the need of a united front in the next congress to enact a substantial national old-age pension.

$173,000 FOR
BEAN GROWERS

Six hundred and eleven thousand county lima bean growers and dollars has been sent to Orange county by the California Lima Bean Growers' association within the past two months, $438,000 of that sum having been distributed to grower members in September, and the remainder $173,000 arriving this morning, being two and one-half cents for all beans delivered in October of this year.

Other dividend distributions will occur from time to time as the beans are harvested and sold. At the present time the price of lima beans is slightly better than four cents per pound.

The headquarters of the California Lima Bean Association is in Oxnard.

SHEPPARD TO TALK TONIGHT

Congressman Harry R. Sheppard is scheduled to address a meeting of Orange county WPA workers tonight at the Willard Junior High school auditorium.

He is to speak at 7:30 p. m. on the situation of the Works Progress Administration in the county at the present time, it was announced.

The meeting is another in a series of preliminary meetings looking toward the formation of a WPA workers' organization in the county, it was announced.

Officials said temporary machinery has already been set up to handle "specific grievances" on the part of WPA workers, although plans are not yet complete for the final organization.

The rally will begin at 7 p. m. with a band scheduled to launch the program.

Dons Play At Riverside; Saints vs. Redlands Here

S. A. ELEVENS DRILL FOR FRIDAY TILTS

Pass defense and blocking will occupy most of the time this week of Santa Ana Jaycee's gridgers, as they prepare for an Eastern conference game at Riverside Friday night.

While Santa Ana was losing to San Bernardino here last week 13-0 on the Indians' two touchdown passes, Riverside observed a conference bye in defeating Occidental 19-0.

With a defeat and tie (Pomona 0-0) out of three starts, Coach Bill Cook's Dons have only a slim chance of getting back into the title race. Riverside definitely has been eliminated in defeats from Chaffey, 2-0; Fullerton, 7-6; and San Bernardino, 6-0. The Bengals, however, should be ready for one of their best efforts against Santa Ana.

The coaching staff was well pleased with Santa Ana's line play against San Bernardino, but was alarmed by the backfield's weakness against passes.

Just as soon as he improves his blocking, Art Heinrich may be promoted to first-string fullback as a running mate for Co-Capt. Larry Timken and Larry Monroy, Cook said.

REDLANDS AND SAINTS PLAY HERE FRIDAY

With only two more league games left on their schedule, Santa Ana High school's Saints today returned to drill for a home game with Redlands Friday afternoon. The Saints draw a bye next Friday, Nov. 11, and then meet San Bernardino here the following Friday, Nov. 18, in the closing game of the Citrus Belt league season.

The Santa Ana squad came out of the Chaffey game without any serious injuries, and is ready to make a bid for a league victory against Redlands. John Pollard was the only man on the team who was injured. He turned an ankle.

The Saints showed good but belated form in defeating Chaffey 6-0. With Capt. Gene Hamaker out, and the late entrance of Fullback Bobbie Musick, they didn't fare so well.

Redlands was vanquished and definitely put out of the league race Thursday when Pomona won by a 35-7 margin. Riverside came through with superior power to knock over San Bernardino, 15-6, Friday night.

Friday's game between Pomona and Riverside, at Pomona, will decide the league championship. Both are unbeaten and untied.

GOLDBERG, PITT STAR, INJURED

PITTSBURGH. (AP)—Marshall Goldberg, Pitt's great fullback scored two touchdowns against the Fordham Rams Saturday, lay in a hospital today with a torn ligament.

Pitt authorities said they did not believe the injury serious, but would not venture an opinion whether "Biggie," an all-American halfback of last season, would be in condition to play in the Carnegie Tech game next Saturday. He was hurt in the final play of the first quarter Saturday, but stayed in the game until near the end.

A riotous, cheering group of Pitt students led their classes today in a "victory" celebration and "raided" the university's skyscraper cathedral of learning in an attempt to enlist other students in a holiday. A proposal for a holiday in the event of a triumph was rejected by student vote last week.

SPORTS Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

By SID FEEDER

(Punch-Hitting for Brietz)

NEW YORK. (AP)—If those Pitt Piledrivers aren't the top set of footballers around, then you name one. And here and there the boys are saying Biggie Goldberg can't miss All-American again. Another guy getting the "All" call is Ki Aldrich, Texas Christian's center. By the way, why not a round-robin with Pitt, Dartmouth, Tennessee, Duke, Northwestern, Texas Christian, California, and Southern Cal getting together. Or is that asking too much?

Unsung Hero Dept. Hal Method, who plays a lot of right guard, recovered the Minnesota fumble on the Gopher 20 that set up Northwestern's upset touchdown. And Abe Shires, Tennessee tackle, did the same against L. S. U. on the Tiger 15 for the winning tally. N. Y. U. still wants to know whether that was a football or a bag full of Mexican jumping beans those Ohio State Buckeyes were pitching around Saturday.

National league's most valuable player comes out tonight—and will you be surprised? South-west scouts report that Texas Christian is the greatest grid outfit in the section ever saw. Anyway, the guy who kept the Frog statistics against Baylor needed an adding machine with 524 yards gained rushing and passing. Good tip for next week might be St. Mary's over Fordham. It is even the same after once getting kicked around by Goldberg and his gallopers.

Player Leaps From Bench, Tackles Rival

CINCINNATI. (AP)—Remorseful John Barnini of the Providence college football team was as bewildered as anyone else today by his blind leap from the bench to tackle Xavier University's quarterback, Tom Hoga, on a touchdown run.

The Providence center wandered around the clubhouse afterward as if the world had caved in on him. He made no alibi. He only asked, "Why did this have to happen to me? All I can say is that I'm awfully sorry."

When the "Twelfth man" incidence occurred yesterday, Providence had passed 10 yards to a touchdown, but the officials called the ball back because of fighting between Barnini and Irv Slatery, Xavier end. Both were ejected.

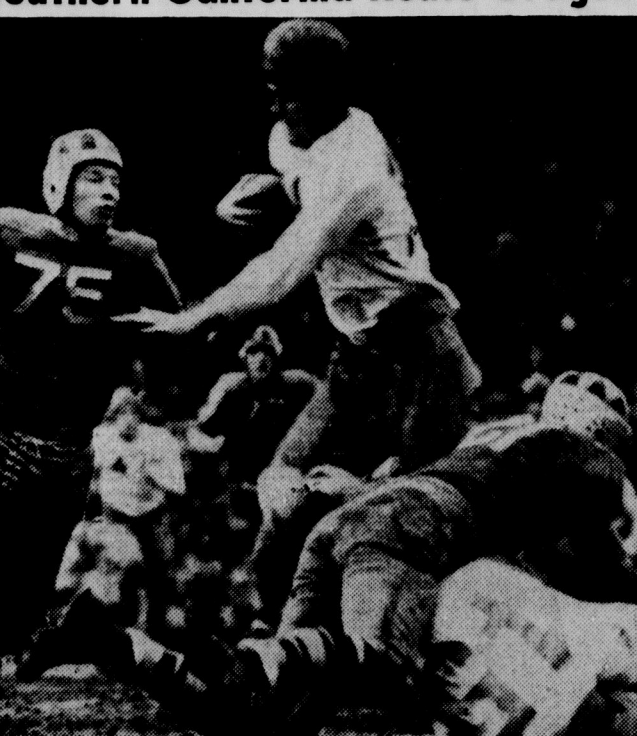

On the next play Hoga intercepted a pass and was in the clear at the 45-yard line when he was stopped by Barnini, who forgot he was out of the game.

Officials gave the touchdown to Xavier. The Musketeers then went ahead to win, 33 to 7, before 12,000 fans.

Coach Hugh Devore of Providence concurred and said, "It was one of those things that can happen in any game featured by keen rivalry."

The temperature of Spitzbergen, north of Scandinavia in the Arctic, has risen about ten degrees in less than 50 years.

Southern California Routs Oregon

Lansdell (with ball), University of Southern California quarterback, sparked the Southerners in their rout of the University of Oregon at Portland, Ore., to 31-7 win. Lansdell made four yards on the above play before being stopped by Nilsen (75). It was Oregon's third defeat in as many weeks.

BACA FIGHTS SAILOR IN MAIN EVENT

Fernie Baca, Santa Ana's slugging 138-pounder, climbs through the ropes tonight at the Orange County Athletic club to battle "Sailor" Martin of the U. S. S. Houston, in the top half of the double main event. The program begins at 8:30 o'clock.

Baca, who is preparing for a professional ring career, is meeting one of the toughest boys he has ever encountered in trading punches with the sailor. The Baca-Martin bout tops one of the best amateur boxing cards that has ever been scheduled for the Highway 101 arena.

The card will bring together some of the better known local scrappers, fighters from the navy and battlers from the Ebony club, Los Angeles negro boxing organization.

In the second half of the double main go, Sammy Walker, 144-pounder from the Ebony club and a slashing, tearing fighter, meets "Sailor" Alejo of the U. S. S. Houston.

Other fights listed on the card are "Turky" Allen, March Field, vs. Don Crawford, Ebony club, 140 pounds; Jack Harris, Long Beach, vs. "Sailor" Adam, U. S. S. Houston, 155 pounds; "Bud" Southern, Laguna Beach, vs. George Jinks, Ebony club, 160 pounds; Dewey Dale, Buena Park, vs. J. J. O'Callaghan, Ontario, 185 pounds; Lupe Placentia, Santa Ana, vs. Wally Bailey, Ebony club, 135 pounds, and Willard Piccol, Laguna Beach, vs. J. C. Stoner, Ebony club, 149 pounds.

POLO MATCH TIED, 5-5

GARDEN GROVE.—Capt. Harry Marrell's Valencians, representing Garden Grove, battled Long Beach's quartet to a 5-5 tie in an exciting polo match here yesterday. An extra chucker was played in an unsuccessful attempt to break the deadlock.

Dr. E. J. Steen of the Valencians was involved in a spectacular spill, but escaped without injury.

The Valencians will invade Redlands next Sunday afternoon.

Other games will be arranged for the Garden Grove field in the near future. The matches are open to the public without charge.

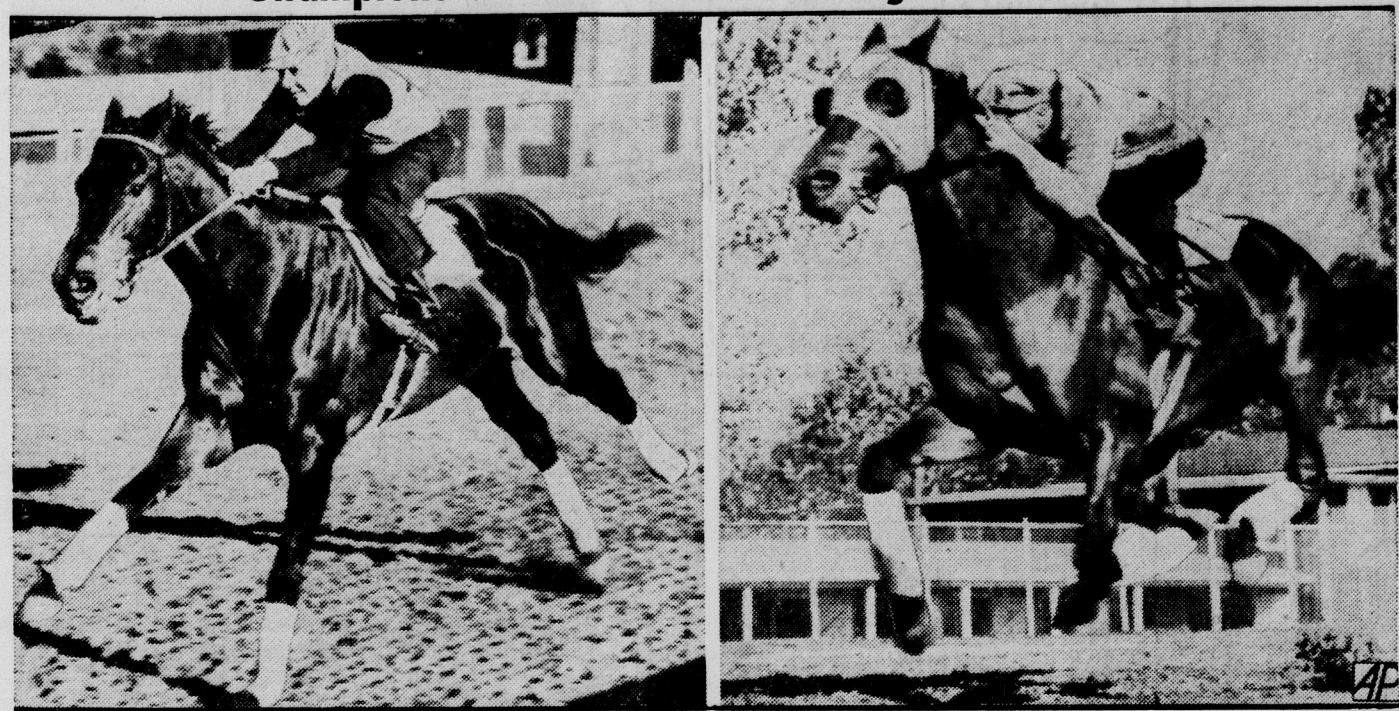

TIDBALL UPSETS DONALD BUDGE

LONG BEACH. (AP)—J. Donald Budge's tennis let-down went to a new low yesterday when the king of the world amateur players was trimmed by Jack Tidball of Los Angeles in a three-set exhibition.

In dedicating the new grass court of the Long Beach Tennis club, red-haired Don met his fourth defeat in the past five weeks. He hadn't been beaten that many times in three years of international campaigning. Tidball, despite 11 double faults on his service, won by scores of 6-2, 2-6, 6-4.

Champions of Turf All Set For Big Match Race

Seabiscuit is at right, with all feet off the ground, as his jockey puts him through his paces.

TROJANS FACE BEARS FOR COAST TITLE

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—November's first football skirmishes this week-end will find Pacific Coast conference championship hopes and Rose Bowl aspirations riding on the outcome of one game.

The pigskin paths of California and Southern California converge in Los Angeles. The winner, except for an upset of stunning proportions later in the schedule, should wind up with the title and the right to represent the west at Pasadena Jan. 2.

California is the defending champion, both in the conference and the Rose Bowl. It has a perfect record this year, in and out of the league.

Southern California lost its opener in an inter-sectional clash with Alabama, but has been unstoppable since. Its supporters already are talking in terms of titles. So are California backers. The Los Angeles Coliseum, seating more than 100,000, should do a landslide business when the two great rivals ram into each other in what now has developed into the most important game of the 1938 schedule.

Which team will win? One guess appears as good as another. They reach the crossroads apparently as evenly matched as two squads could be. Each has a formidable running attack. Southern California has more first grade backs than California, but the latter has shown superior team play throughout the season.

California won its fourth conference engagement last Saturday in a terrific struggle with a surprisingly strong Oregon State college eleven. The score was 13 to 7. Far more impressive was Southern California's 31 to 7 win over University of Oregon. Trojan rooters viewed the rout as indicating their team had finally started to roll.

After this week, each team has two conference games on its schedule. California, with Oregon and Stanford and Southern California with Washington and the University of California at Los Angeles. Each will be favored to win the remaining contests.

Other conference meetings Saturday will pit Washington against Stanford; U. C. L. A. against Washington State college, and Idaho against Oregon. U. C. L. A. should have the easiest assignment. W. S. C. has lost five games. The other two clashes are of the toss-up variety.

U. C. L. A. defeated Stanford 6 to 0 last week; Idaho won from Montana 19 to 6 and Washington State nosed out Gonzaga 15 to 13 in a non-conference affair. Washington had an open date.

Says Saturday Night Is Still Bath Night

LOUISVILLE. (AP)—As many people still take baths on Saturday nights as formerly, according to George C. Keller, supervisor of the Louisville Water company's reservoir.

"Try as I do," says Hill, "I still can't keep the water level up on Saturday night, and I know it's just people taking baths."

"It usually starts getting lower about 8 o'clock, and by 10 o'clock the gauge shows two or three feet less water. And when you stop to think that each foot of water means almost a million and a half gallons of water, that means that plenty of people are taking those baths."

Twelve Teams Are Unbeaten, Untied

NEW YORK. (AP)—Football enters the critical November phase of a brilliant sweepstakes.

Rank them as you choose at this point but the undefeated and untied list of major outfits includes Pitt, Dartmouth and Georgetown in the East; Tennessee and Duke in the South; California and Santa Clara in the Far West; Texas Christian and Texas Tech in the Southwest; Notre Dame, Iowa State and Oklahoma in the Mid-West.

Western Reserve, high-powered scoring array from Cleveland, likewise boasts a perfect record along with others in the so-called smaller college class, but lack of a representative schedule operates against them.

National championship speculation also must include Northwestern's Wildcats, conquerors of Minnesota but held to a scoreless draw by Ohio State. Boston college, Villanova and Utah likewise have escaped defeat, but have been tied.

After last Saturday's extraordinary list of gridiron "natural" never hitherto equalled in October, there is a noticeable falling off in the class of this week's program.

EAST
Pitt, the unquestioned leader after trouncing Fordham, 24-13, will need to fight off a natural let-down in its annual clash with tough Carnegie Tech. Dartmouth, whose high-geared offense crushed Yale, 24-6, has a breather in little Dickinson, while Georgetown, conqueror of Temple, 15-0, plays Bucknell. Of the other unbeaten eastern outfits, Boston college Eagles play Indiana, which held Wisconsin to a 6-0 count, while Villanova, surprised by a 6-6 tie with South Carolina, takes on Auburn.

Topping the international list, however, is Notre Dame's meeting with Navy at Baltimore. The Irish spotted Army a touchdown in the first few minutes of play and then went out on a fourth-period drive, 19-7. Navy, sluggish for three periods, despite a strong finish, Harvard, winner 26-7 over Princeton, plays Chicago; battered Fordham tackles St. Mary's Gaels; Manhattan faces North Carolina state, and Columbia, well shackled by Cornell, 23-7, meets an improving Virginia Tech.

MIDDLE WEST
Northwestern's stunning 6-3 upset of Minnesota left the Wildcatters tied for the Big Ten lead with Ohio State whose Buckeyes leaped, 32-0, Northwestern plays Wisconsin next, while Ohio State plays Purdue, held to an amazing scoreless tie by Iowa's Hawkeyes. Iowa may be the innocent victim of Minnesota fury in the remaining Big Ten game of the week. Michigan plays host to Penn after wading through Illinois, 14-0.

In the Big Six, Oklahoma, easy 28-6 victor over Tulsa, plays Kansas State and will have a chance to tie Iowa State for the lead. Kansas, engineering of a tremendous upset in a 27-7 beating of Kansas State, by Paul Christmas and the Missouri Tigers, Missouri may be overpowered by Michigan State, which surrendered to Michigan Clara by a single point, 7-6. Iowa State, after edging out Marquette, 7-0, plays its Iowa rival, Drake.

SOUTHWEST
Three conference games are on the slate but Texas Christians, the leader, does not figure in any of them. The Horned Frogs, possibly the greatest team in the section and a strong contender for national honors, meets Tulsa after routing Baylor, 39-7. Southern Methodist, and Rice, unbeaten within the conference, will aim at their second successive conference victories against Texas A. and M. and Arkansas, respectively.

SOUTH
Tennessee's 14-6 conquest of Louisiana State left the Vols far out in front in the southeastern conference race with Tulane and Georgia the only other squads without conference defeat. Tulane, 27-0 victor over Mississippi State, has won one and tied one, and takes on Alabama. Georgia starts its conference schedule against Florida.

The southern conference crown virtually was clinched by Duke when the Blue Devils, one of the country's mightiest defensive machines, topped North Carolina, 14-0. Duke's goal line still is uncrossed. Virginia Military and Clemson have outside chances of figuring in the title as both are unbeaten within the conference but played a 7-7 draw against one another.

FAR WEST
Tied with four successive victories, California and Southern California probably will settle the Pacific Coast conference crown in their annual battle at Los Angeles.

EWERT LEADS QUALIFIERS

Dick Ewert, former champion, is leading the qualifiers for play in the Santa Ana Country club's annual men's tournament. Qualifying scores must be in the hands of Roy Renwick, club pro, by Wednesday, with the "Calcutta" dinner slated for the club Wednesday night.

Ewert shot a 148 over the 36-hole qualifying test. Other low scorers were Charles (Chuck) Denio, 150; Ed Farnsworth, 151; Jack Robertson, 152; Ed Holmes, 156; L. D. Coffing, 157; L. W. Benis, 160; Warren Fletcher, 161; Ben Manker, 162; and Lee Osterlander and E. H. Guthrie, 165.

Bulldogs Rout Cincinnati's Pros, 48 to 17

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The Los Angeles Bulldogs, whose brand of professional football is catching the public fancy this season, got down to training today for a "civil war" game with the Hollywood Stars after routing the Cincinnati Bengals 48 to 17.

Gaining revenge for a 3 to 0 defeat by the Bengals several weeks ago, the Bulldogs scored seven touchdowns before 12,000 fans who braved threatening weather to watch the fracas yesterday.

The Bulldogs tallied ranged from an 89-yard run by Rap Peterson to a 20-yard gallop by Ike Franklin with a stolen ball.

There was considerable argument after Berry of the Bengals scooped up Peterson's fumble in the end zone in the third period and raced 101 yards to the Bulldog goal line, but the referee ruled Peterson had made a touchdown.

The more spectacular of the two Bengal touchdowns was Warwick's pass to Berry for 50 yards. Mike Martinovich booted a field goal from the 38 yard tripe.

The Bulldogs play the Hollywood Stars next Sunday.

U. S. S. VESTAL TOPS ELKS, 9-1

Santa Ana Elks' baseball club dropped a 9-1 game to the U. S. S. Vestal in practice at the Orange city park diamond yesterday.

The game was the first of several warm-up tussles being arranged by Manager Darwin Scott in an attempt to develop Orange county's young players. Another game will be scheduled for the Orange park next Sunday afternoon.

Jake and Orth on Next Mat Card

Yukon Jake and Paul Orth will wrestle in the main event at the Orange County Athletic club next Thursday night, it was announced today. Bill Raburn and Charley Carr also will tangle.

country's mightiest defensive machines, topped North Carolina, 14-0. Duke's goal line still is uncrossed. Virginia Military and Clemson have outside chances of figuring in the title as both are unbeaten within the conference but played a 7-7 draw against one another.

Tied with four successive victories, California and Southern California probably will settle the Pacific Coast conference crown in their annual battle at Los Angeles.

TURF CHAMPS SEEK TITLE AT PIMLICO

BALTIMORE. (AP)—The weatherman was the fair-haired boy today as the match race of the night, the showdown tomorrow between Seabiscuit and War Admiral, neared the zero hour of starting time on Pimlico's manicured mile and three-sixteenths of cushioned turf.

Barring a forfeiture, only one thing can postpone this off-scheduled but never run race and that is rain between now and 8:30 tomorrow morning, when one Jervis Spencer, jr., Maryland's racing commission chairman, walks on the track for a final look-see and a momentous decision.

RULES OF RACE
If he rules "it's fast," the 'Biscuit and the Admiral will go postward about 12:05 (P. S. T.), even though it should rain proverbial cats and dogs after the official ruling. That's in the agreement.

If he rules it isn't fast, the race will be postponed until Thursday and a lot of people, about 50,000 of them, will be temporarily disappointed.

A forecast of "partly cloudy and warmer" for tomorrow plus excellent condition of the track today gave a near perfect setting for the event from which will emerge the king of American turf.

War Admiral, now a 4-year-old, will take the track tomorrow for his 24th race in three years of competition. From his 23 starts he has garnered 19 victories, and only once has he finished out of the money. The little brown son of Man O'War has earned $257,050 for Owner Sam Riddle.

The 'Biscuit, a year older than War Admiral, has run 83 of them in a busy four years, and on the credit side of his ledger are: 31 victories, 12 seconds, 13 thirds.

He has put $331,405 in the pockets of Owner Charles S. Howard. Victory tomorrow would add $15,000 to the pot.

NEVER HAVE MET

Despite their victories in the best-known stake races, the paths of these two have never crossed on the track. Thrice have they met—almost; at Laurel, at Belmont Park, at Suffolk Downs. But each time one or the other was scratched before the event in which they had both been entered.

Tomorrow there will be no scratching, unless the owner wants to forfeit a $5000 guarantee and the rage of the thousands who have waited months for the meeting.

Veteran Charley Kurling will be astride the Admiral, and quiet little Georgie Woolf will ride the 'Biscuit.

Pullman-trained Seabiscuit covers some 30,000 miles a year in the business of racing. He really gets around. Whether he can get around War Admiral, of course, is the question.

And tomorrow brings the answer.

HORSES OF ALTOGETHER DIFFERENT TEMPERAMENT

BALTIMORE. (AP)—Seabiscuit and War Admiral, who meet tomorrow in the race of champions, have the normal equipment of four feet, one tail and an ear on each, but it's just about there that their similarity stops.

They are horses of altogether different temperament. Sam Riddle's War Admiral is the typical thoroughbred; on edge from the word go, eager to be off but usually calm at the post. He gets away fast and keeps going the same way. Son of the great Man O'War, the Admiral inherited the dislike of seeing a horse in front of him.

There usually aren't any Seabiscuits, hard-working son of Hard Tack, is a somewhat fractious, sometimes roughish animal. He's a lazybones maybe, or maybe he just takes life easy. A notorious slow starter, he can, and generally does, turn on the steam when it's necessary to overtake whatever is ahead.

He's one of the few thoroughbreds known to be able to sleep lying down while traveling. He travels some 30,000 miles a year.

Bob Pastor Defends His Title Tonight

NEW YORK. (AP)—For what ever it's worth, Bob Pastor puts his New York state heavyweight title on the block when he meets Big Bob Barckey of Buffalo in a 10-round bout tonight.

It is Pastor's first fight in several months. He was slated to meet Gunnar Barlund in September, but cut himself with an axe during his training work, and the bout was called off. Pastor is favored to win on his superior boxing ability, although he'll be outweighed considerably.

Garcia-Armstrong Title Battle Is Nearing 'Tossup'

NEW YORK. (AP)—A baker's dozen of lettuce pickers from California are in town to see Cefero Garcia win the world welterweight championship Wednesday night. These is considerable doubt in other quarters as to Garcia's ability to take the title from Henry Armstrong, but the presence of these 13 gives you an idea of how the home folks feel about it.

This group, headed by Joe Toledo, saved up for six months to finance the jaunt in two automobiles. They earn only $2 a day, but about $100,000 to see if the same thing will happen at the Garden.

as a good smithy rather than as a hunter or trail blazer. He is said on authority to have forged the first iron in the region of the Yadkin river.

While he carved a new country from the wilderness, Daniel Boone also wrought a career at the forge for generations of his sons and grandsons to follow.

Today, in his modest shop, Daniel Boone, sixth descendant of the pioneer, is forging simple and beautiful wrought iron hinges, latches, andirons, and lights to outfit the rebuilt Colonial homes of the Williamsburg restoration project. The order, Daniel estimates, will take the Boone boys 25 years to fill.

Happy Halloween!

LD-TIME editors, about this time of year, used to get out their stock editorial on Hallowe'en, pleading with boys not to go out and raise Old Ned on the night the witches ride.

We don't have to do that chore now—and we can thank our smart school teachers, service groups, and boys' and girls' organizations for the change.

For centuries the problem was approached from the wrong angle. Boys were forbidden to pull Banker Jones' buggy to the top of the church steeple and, since boys are what they are, youngsters accepted this as a dare and did their best to accomplish their mischievous ends.

The new approach is not to forbid the children to exercise their inherent mischief. Instead, parties and mass entertainments under proper supervision are staged so that the young folks find it more fun to be good than to raise Cain.

The old Hallowe'ens may have been a thrill, but we'll all be a lot more comfortable with Hallowe'en, 1938 style, when the witches ride streamlined broomsticks with hydraulic brakes, and the kids behave themselves.

Dewey—the G. O. P. White Hope

Keep your eyes on the coming New York election—it may change the whole complexion of United States politics.

It all depends upon the Republican nominee, the highly-publicized young "racket-buster," Thomas E. Dewey.

If Dewey should win the election from President Roosevelt's friend, the present Governor Lehman, then he would become the new White Hope of the Republicans.

Republican leaders are desperately seeking some new, virile standard-bearer for the 1940 presidential fight. They know they could not win with an old-time reactionary, such as Hoover. Neither would Landon have a show, after his terrific defeat in 1936.

What the elephant wants is new blood, young and colorful, for rejuvenation purposes.

If Dewey becomes governor of New York he will be just what the doctor ordered. Even if he makes a strong showing, he may be called to run for president.

But, if he takes a Landon-like stumble, the Republicans will sigh in sorrow and look other places for a candidate.

So keep your eye on New York. On the outcome of the election, very probably will depend whether or not you have young Dewey offered you as a presidential nominee a few years hence.

Thanksgiving on Saturday?

There is a move on foot nationally to change our Thanksgiving date from the last Thursday in November to some Saturday in the same month.

At first glance the idea may seem shocking, like a change in the date of Christmas.

A study of the situation, however, reveals that such a change would not be breaking any centuries-old tradition.

It was only half a century ago that our Thanksgiving date was definitely set on November's last Thursday. Before that, American presidents and colonial governors used to set various dates, at the end of the harvest, as it suited their own desires.

Those who now would change the date to a Saturday would do so in order to keep up with the modern trend toward double holidays. They further point out that, on Thanksgiving, the nation traditionally overeats, and the double holiday would give workers a chance to recuperate and avoid that dreadful Friday after, when nearly everyone now feels as overfed as a davenport.

Such a change, of course, is a highly controversial subject. What do you think of the plan?

The Rail Problem

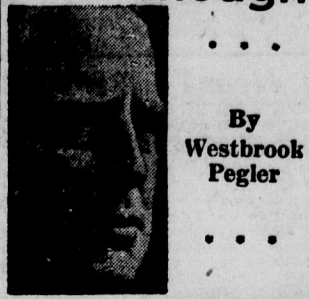

The government offer to loan the railroads a billion dollars, eventually to be devoured in wages and overhead, is no solution to the predicament the rails find themselves in. The only solution is more business so the roads can make more money to pay what they owe and meet operating expenses. That's a tough problem. Streamlining recovered some business. Faster delivery of freight helped some, but the cost of operation is too heavy for the income. Railroad employees refused to accept a reduction in wages, so the operating problem is all the more burdensome. The economic law is that if you take in less you must spend less, but the railroads have such a heavy fixed maintenance that it presents a real problem, which neither the executives, the employees, nor the President's committee solved.

The Flower Street Tragedy

A torn twisted mass of steel at a local garage gives mute evidence of a tragedy which claimed two lives at the Flower street crossing. This broken piece of mechanism does not tell of the parental sacrifice which saved a baby's life as father and mother offered their own bodies as protection. It is one of the thousands of highway tragedies in which human sacrifice plays a part.

With all of the safety devices so far perfected, warning signals and other methods to defeat death, accidents occur in spite of the human elements of prevention. Either from carelessness or mechanical defects or momentary inattentions the toll of life continues to mount on the highways intended for pleasure and commerce. Eternal alertness is the price of safety.

Fair Enough

NEW YORK.—Every shriek-easy who has not a previous engagement to take on about something else at the moment will now make a noisy case for government medical care out of the report from Philadelphia that a destitute woman had her baby unattended, and lost the baby, after six physicians refused to respond to an emergency call.

This report ignored, however, the well known fact of life that such cries do not come without warning like gunshot wounds and traffic injuries, and avoids consideration of the possibility of contributory negligence by the woman and the man involved.

ACCOUNT INCOMPLETE
The account is incomplete as to why a woman so long forewarned had failed, whether by her own fault or for other reasons, to arrange to receive the benefit of free services which undoubtedly exist not only in so large and enlightened a city as Philadelphia but almost everywhere in this country.

This incompleteness is no ground for an assumption that the woman and the husband did neglect their responsibilities, but neither is it just to suggest, as the account and some comment have suggested, that the six physicians were simply heartless and without excuse. It might not be difficult to find one doctor who would simply refuse to trouble himself with a charity case at an inconvenient hour, but six would have a variety of reasons, some legitimate.

PUT HER TO SLEEP
Moreover, if the hospital services of Philadelphia are anything like those of New York a woman need not have a baby to bring an ambulance to her door with an internist to do the right thing by her.

In New York, at least, the royal indigents who know the facilities which a mothering city provides for their little ills have been known to call an ambulance to fetch a doctor to treat a cold, and there is a veritable case of a conscientious and miserably overworked young doctor who was turned out of his bed in the middle of the night to do for a lady whose only trouble was that she could not get to sleep. If the young physician had whizzed the lady briskly over the head with a bottle to relieve her trouble that would have been the human thing to do. Instead, however, the youth whipped up something in a glass, gave a dose of the same to her husband—who was wakeful, too—and tucked them in, turned out the light and tiptoed away on his career of succor to suffering humankind.

But, while there are those so alert to the prerogatives and rights of indigence that they hesitate not to call in an ambulance doctor to treat them for hangovers, baldness or chronic fatigue, there are many others so shiftless, ignorant and lazy that they neglect quite respectable ills, such as childbearing, until they are suddenly thrown on the doctors' hands as emergencies.

HOW ABOUT DOCTORS?
Not to find fault too readily with the press work on the story of the destitute Philadelphia woman, I suggest, nevertheless, that the account left untold facts which were no less important than those it did tell. How come the patient not to have made arrangements for attendance in an expected emergency? Was it any fault of hers or the husband's, or can it be that Philadelphia simply does not give such assistance? If free care is available is it, then, the duty of the doctors and social service workers to go about scouting for patients?

And, finally, what about the six doctors? What were their reasons, and did anyone even trouble to ascertain whether they were already occupied with more forehanded patients or, perhaps, thought it was a case which the ambulance service should take in its stride?

TO MY SWIM SUIT
Good-bye till next summer, you've been a good pal;

But black and alas, here's the rub:
The season for swimming is over and now

I've got to get back to the tub.
I've stretched out my figure (it's nearly a "six")

In ocean, in pool, and in lake;
But now I must "double all up" in cement,
And bathe just for cleanliness' sake.

No more in a "jack-knife," or airy, light "swan";
I'll pose as a champion hope;
From now on till next summer

I'll practice alone,
And do all my diving for soap.

CONSIDERATE
In the hope of getting her maid to do better work, Mrs. Brown decided to praise her efforts. Entering the kitchen, she said with a smile: "How nicely you ironed these things, Bridget." She carefully inspected all the garments. Suddenly her face took on a puzzled frown.

"Oh, I see; they are all your own clothes," she added.

"Yes," replied the maid, "and I'd do yours just like that if I had the time, ma'am."—Atlanta Two Bells.

EGGS NOT INCLUDED
A Scottish farmer had agreed to deliver 20 hens to the local poulterer. When the birds arrived, however, the shopkeeper found that there were only nineteen in the case.

Just before the shop closed for the night, the farmer came hurrying into the poulterer's office, bringing the twentieth hen.

"Man," said the poulterer, "but you're late with this one."
"Ay," agreed the other, "but she didn't lay until this afternoon."—Answers.

OCT. 31, 1913

A timely warning has been sent out from the city marshal's office, giving due notice to the frolicsome youths of the city that they will stand for no "monkey business" tonight in the way of hurtful and harmful Hallowe'en dildoes.

The city federated Parent-Teachers association held an inspiring session Tuesday afternoon at the old high school with President Mrs. F. H. McElree in the chair.

Rev. and Mrs. George Husser returned last evening from a trip east. They had been gone for two months and had visited in 14 different states.

D. W. McDannald, who tells the tenderfoot who visit the chamber of commerce in Los Angeles of the wonders of Orange county, is now engaged in gathering a special exhibit for the land show in Chicago.

The members of the progressive county central committee will come as well as talk when they come together on the evening of Nov. 14 for a general sizing up of the local situation as it pertains to county affairs and the coming election.

WASHINGTON.—(Special)—America's rate of population increase is up to six per 1000 people. More babies are being born in the United States this year than in 1937, and fewer of them were dying. Fewer of all of us are dying, as a matter of fact. There is a pretty good chance that American health figures for the year will set a record.

A survey for the first half of 1938, just published by the U. S. public health service, indicates that:

"Another outstanding feature of the mortality record for the first six months of 1938 was the widespread decline in the infant mortality rate. Only five states reported a higher rate than for 1937, and the current rate is nearly nine per cent less than that for last year.

"The birth rate for 1938 has continued slightly above that for 1937. This increase, combined with a lower death rate, has resulted in a crude rate of natural increase of 6.0 per cent per 1,000 population, compared with the corresponding rate of 4.3 per 1,000 population for 1937."

For the population generally, the same six-month trend, if carried through the remainder of the year, will place the country's mortality rate at the lowest point on record, with the possible single exception of 1933. The rate for the first six months of 1938, 10.8 per 1,000 population, is only slightly higher than the low rate for 1933 and represents a decrease of 8.5 per cent from the rate for 1937.

CANADIAN PLANES
Shortly after this, the Turkish government ordered 42 Grumman pursuit planes from the Canadian Car and Foundry company in Canada. The Canadian government approved the purchase, and 38 of the planes were delivered to Turkey.

Then suddenly Joseph Green of the state department again stuck out his hand. Regardless of the fact that the planes were being built in Canada, and that the purchase had the official OK of both Canadian and Turkish governments, he decided that these planes might be going to the Span-

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—The amount of fascist sabotage put across by the career boys under the dignified nose of democratic Cordell Hull is almost unbelievable. Some of it, playing directly into the hands of Hitler and Mussolini, has just leaked out.

Here is the inside story of the latest and most astounding development.

In the early summer, when the president saw how things were beginning to shape up in Czechoslovakia, and that Hitler and Mussolini were determined to dominate Europe, he decided that any material advantage which U. S. manufacturers could give to the democratic nations was all to the good.

Accordingly both France and Britain placed important orders in the United States for military planes.

Roosevelt was also interested in Spain, where the viceroy, General Franco, was beginning the activities of Hitler and Mussolini had worn threadbare.

Last April, when certain senators proposed lifting the Spanish embargo, the state department career boys reported to Roosevelt that the Spanish war would be over in three weeks. Even before Roosevelt left on his Pacific cruise, however, it became apparent that the loyalists were getting stronger and that Franco was being kept in operation only Adolf and Benito.

FASCIST SYMPATHY?
Before Roosevelt left for the Pacific, therefore, certain high-placed advisers asked him what policy the state department should follow regarding the sale of airplanes to France, Canada, Russia, etc., even though the fascists claimed that these planes might later find their way into Spain.

As a result of these conversations, it was made clear that the United States could not police the borders of France or Canada to account for the future destination of the planes. Nor could it challenge the word of a sovereign nation regarding them. In other words, if France or Canada, or any other sovereign nation chose to buy American airplanes, the United States could not set up a spy system to see whether those planes were used only within the country of purchase.

After this policy had been established, the president left for the west coast. While he was gone, the Greek government purchased 27 planes from the Bellanca company. But when an export license was requested of the state department, Joe Green, sanctioning head of the state department munitions control board, turned it down.

In effect he called the Greek government "a liar," said it was not ordering the planes for itself but for Spanish loyalists, refused to issue a license. The planes, until recently were still undelivered at the Bellanca plant in New-castle, Del.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler; if public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag. Please limit communications to 350 words. $30 AND INSURANCE
To the Editor: Hon. Rex B. Goodell, insurance commissioner of the state of California recently addressed a letter to Attorney General U. S. Webb regarding certain questions that would arise in connection with insurance, in event the "30 Every Thursday" warrants are issued.

Question: Would any insurer be legally authorized to tender these warrants at the maturity value thereof in payment of losses under its insurance or surety contracts, in full satisfaction of its contract obligation, and could it demand a full release upon such tender?

Answer: The answer to this question is in the negative. These warrants are not, nor do they purport to be legal tender for private debts and obligations. Therefore, no insurance company would be privileged to require any person to accept such so-called warrants in payment of any amount due from it by way of losses sustained or payable under any policy issued by it.

Question: Would any insurer be legally authorized under the investment provisions of the insurance code to purchase or use these warrants as investments either as general investments or as excess funds investments?

Answer: The answer to this question is in the negative. Articles 3 and 4 of chapter 2, part 2, division 1, insurance code, comprising section 1170 and 1181, and sections 1190 and 1202, inclusive, deal with general and excess funds investments of insurance companies. The only mention of warrants in either of said articles is "registered warrants."

Question: Would any insurer, agent, broker, solicitor or surplus line broker be guilty of a violation of the rebate laws in offering to accept as an inducement to insurance or in accepting the "30 Every Thursday" warrants at maturity value (other than warrants to which have been attached $1.04 of stamps for each $1.00 of maturity value) in part or full payment of insurance premiums?

Answer: The answer to this question is in the affirmative. Section 750 and 751 of the insurance code prohibit an insurer, insurance agent, broker or solicitor rebating the whole or any part of the premium payable on an insurance contract and from accepting any valuable consideration which is not clearly specified therein. Section 753 of the insurance code permits the acceptance of promissory notes where the premium is to be paid after 60 days. The implication thereof is that cash is payable as the premium specified in the policy.

It is well settled in law that "the premium or price for insurance must be paid or promised to be paid in cash."

THE RIVER OF ORANGES
The destruction of some thousands of tons of edible oranges in Orange county because there is no market for them and no way for the growers to give them to needy persons points out another serious deficiency in our costly relief system.

It is true that these are not first or even second grade oranges. They classify officially as U. S. No. 3 grade, which is about the quality often sold from itinerant "hucksters" wagons at 15 cents a bushel. But there is a mighty lot of good food going to waste in the riverbed dumps near Santa Ana and Anaheim, and a good many undernourished children (within trucking distance of this "river of oranges," now being soaked with oil preparatory to burning them).

The growers and packers have no choice but to get rid of the unsalable fruit as best they can. But why it should go completely to waste when tax money is being spent in such quantities to relieve the hungry poor is a question for the relief administration to answer. A little of the $10,000,000 the Surplus Commodities Corporation will use to buy oranges for relief distribution might advantageously be spent getting this free fruit to those in need.—Los Angeles Times.

Philosophy

I attended a reunion of my class at the State Teachers college in Warrensburg, Missouri. Dr. George Diemer, the president, told me that there was no reason why any boy who is willing to work for board and room should not get a college education.

The college I attended is supported by the state and costs only about $60 a year aside from board and room. There are state supported schools in every state in the union. Let me urge the boys who have just graduated from high school and who cannot find jobs, to acquire the additional education by working their way through one of these colleges. If you will write to the superintendent of education at the capitol of your state, he will send you a list of the state supported colleges.

Andrew Carnegie, the great steel magnate, who came to America as an emigrant and left it to acquire his own castle in the land of his birth, once said that the average person used not more than 25 per cent of his ability and energy. He went on to say that the world takes off its hat to the man who works up to 50 per cent of his capacity, and that it pays great honor to those rare individuals who actually expend 100 per cent.

And Andrew Carnegie was a man qualified to speak, for he was one of those rare individuals.

I ran across in a book entitled "How to Develop Personal Power," by Dick Carlson (Harper & Brothers) some information on Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh which I think will interest you.

The Colonel was quoted as saying: "I came to the conclusion that if I knew the difference between the right way to do a thing and the wrong way to do it, it was up to me to train myself to do the right thing at all times."

"So I drew up a list of character factors at the left margin of a sheet of paper, and then I numbered the top of the sheet from 1 to 31, ruling the sheet both up and down and sideways.

"One vertical column under a certain number would be my daily mark for that particular day of the month.

"At night I would read off my list of character factors, and those which I had fulfilled satisfactorily during the day I would mark with a red cross; those I had not been called upon to demonstrate that day I would mark with a black cross.

"I began to check myself from day to day and to compare my 'black and reds' from month to month and year to year. I was glad to notice an improvement as I grew older."

I'LL TELL YOU....
BY BOB BURNS

One of the strangest things about show business is that people that have no connection with it, shudder to think of their children being actors while on the other hand, the parents of actors are the proudest people in the world, I suppose.

A young actor out here met a non-professional girl in church and they became engaged, but the other day, their minister told me he didn't think the marriage would ever come off.

He said "Neither one of 'em is good enough for the other." I asked him why he said that and he says, "Well, I've just been talkin' the matter over with families."
